Car, Stocks, Parents In Plans of Winner

Charles P. Holt, a Syracuse University junior from Star Route, Shokan, yesterday won $100,000 in the New York State lottery. His reaction was a simple "wow!"

Holders of post position nine were the $100,000 recipients.

Growing Exuberance

Ulster County's other winner was Mrs. Ethel Tompkins of Tilton Avenue, Highland, who was one of 66 persons to win $5,000 each in the final stage drawing Wednesday.

Holt's first reaction he said was numbness but was gradually replaced with a growing exuberance. He said he might be on his way to New York City to purchase a foreign sports car.

Informed that a check with the Internal Revenue Service in Albany would take roughly $56,000, Holt replied dryly, "That's my contribution to the government." He said he would invest the bulk of his money in sound stocks.

"I'm very pleased, very happy and very thankful," were the words Mrs. Tompkins used to describe her feelings. "This gives me a chance to buy a lot of things I never could have purchased otherwise. And I plan to share it too. I've a lot of young friends in college and then there's the sick people I visit everyday. This is really wonderful."

Holt, who has a birthday Aug. 3, explained his mother bought each member of the family one ticket. In addition to his mother, Mildred, the family is comprised of: Dorothy J. Holt, his father; Dorothy, 18, his sister; and Russell, 15, his brother.

Young Holt said he is engaged now and hopes to marry in December. His fiancée is Frances Ganci, 21, a hometown girl. She is a student at State University in Albany.

Holt acknowledged his winnings would make the financial end of marriage "a little bit easier."

Will Not Resign: Hemphill

UR Agency Agrees to Cooperate With Mayor Garraghan

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan's plans for being the moving force in the coordination of the Kingston Housing Authority and Urban Renewal Agency got a boost last night as the agency agreed to cooperate with him fully.

At their monthly meeting the agency members agreed to meet with the mayor and work out urban renewal in Kingston. The mayor was in Kingston on business. It was noted that in the 19 months the mayor has been in office he has been to two regular scheduled urban renewal agency meetings.

Present were Alderman James F. Howard (D-10th Ward), Common Council Urban Renewal committee chairman, and Alderman John Machone (R-12th Ward), Common Council minority party leader.

Causes of Slums

Howard and Machone heard the agency tell them one of the major causes of slums in Kingston was the lack of enforcement of city housing codes.

Joseph White, whom the mayor wanted as an assistant to draw up a list of persons in the Broadway East project eligible for public housing was discussed. It was noted that White was the only social worker on the urban renewal staff and that it had been difficult for the agency to get him due to the shortage of qualified persons. The loaning of White to the mayor will be discussed by Executive Director Eric Hemphill and the mayor.

Hemphill squelched all rumors of his resignation when he told The Freeman, "I have been given a solid vote of confidence by the board. There's a lot of work to be done here."

Hemphill discussed the possibilities of what would happen if he resigned or were fired.

"First of all," he said, "you have to realize two things. One of the things that attracted me to Kingston from Philadelphia was a certain freedom of ac-

'I Think It's Over' Detroit Mayor Says

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer

The fury of mob violence continued to sear the nation's cities today with at least 10 communities hit by fresh violence overnight despite pleas for quiet from Negro leaders. But in Detroit, scene of the worst race explosion in the nation's history, officials said the trouble seemed to be over.

"I think it's over," said Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, citing "an apparent continuing improvement in the over-all situation." He was joined in the statement by Gov. George Romney and Cyrus R. Vance, the President's special deputy on the scene.

The day dawned peaceful for the first time in four days, but soldiers had Detroit under strict military control after several hours of routing out nests of snipers.

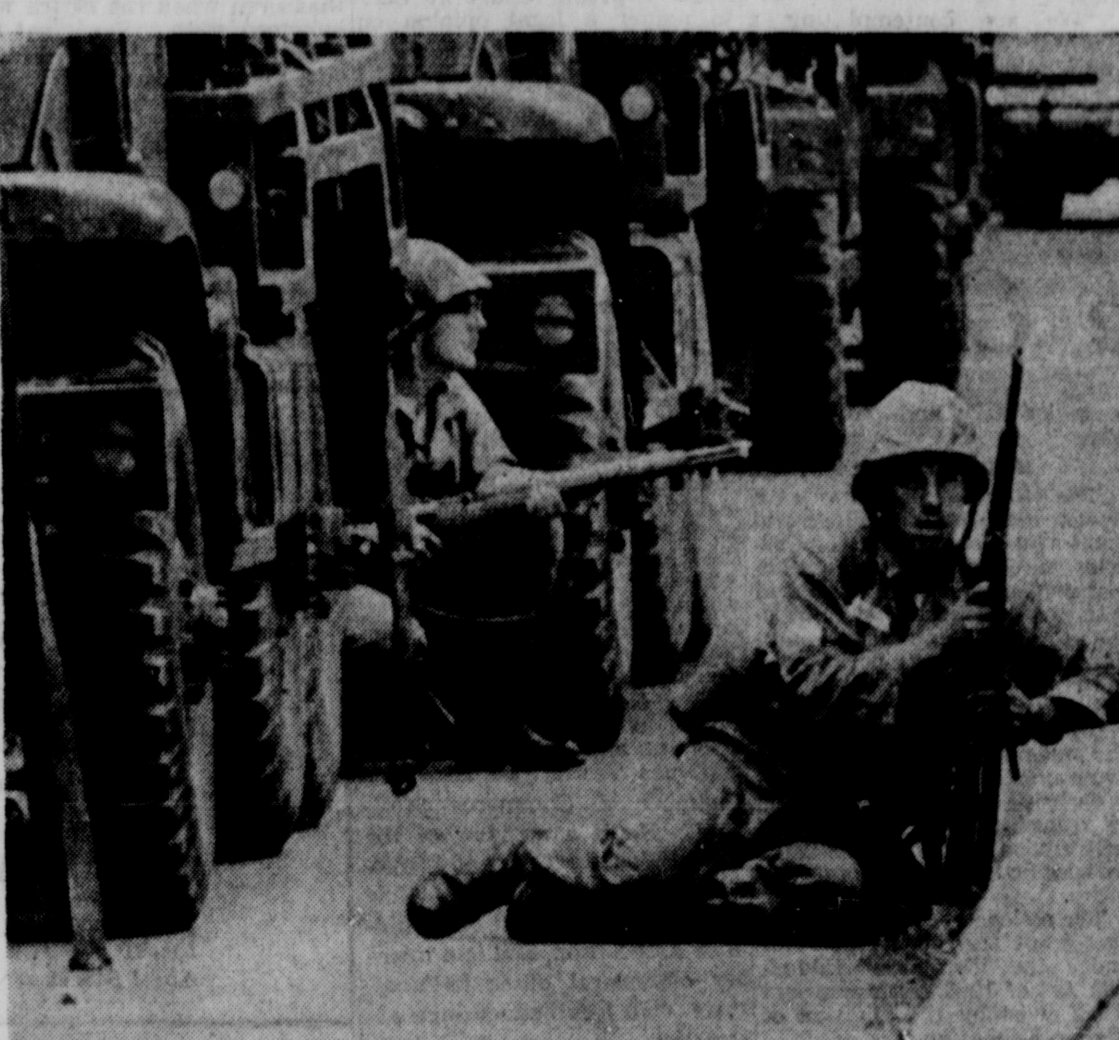

The death toll reached 36 during the night as the city turned to the task of providing riot refugees with food to survive. Most of those who lost their homes were reported living with friends.

The appalling count of death and destruction in Detroit exceeded even that of the 1965 Watts riot in Los Angeles, where 35 were killed, 860 injured and $50 million in damage suffered. More than 1,000 were injured here. Damage in Detroit was assessed at $500 million and expected to mount.

In New York, where Spanish Harlem continued calm for the second night, a looting group of Negro teen-agers swarmed out of Central Park and struck at midtown shops along fashionable Fifth Avenue in a lightning foray. Twenty were arrested.

Chicago police combatted scattered window smashing, looting and firebombing on the city's predominantly Negro South and West sides. There were 40 arrests. A mid-evening rain was credited with holding down the violence.

There were also disorders and Phoenix, Ariz., South Bend,

Ind., Cincinnati, Los Angeles, and Cambridge Md., where National Guardsmen moved in behind a wall of gas to disperse an angry crowd.

In Chicago, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. declared Wednesday: "Congress has created the atmosphere for vicious Negro rioting and must take immediate steps to end unemployment."

"We do not need measures like the 'antiriot' bill which has sailed through the House of Representatives; we need legislation like the 'antiriot' bill and the rent supplement proposal which were hooted down in that chamber," he said.

King joined with three other top Negro leaders Wednesday in calling for an end to the violence. "No one benefits under mob law. Let it end now!" said the statement, signed by A. Philip Randolph, Roy Wilkins and Whitney Young Jr. in addition to King.

In Alexandria, Va., H. Rap Brown, director of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, was released from jail on a $10,000 bond after being arrested as a fugitive from a Maryland charge of inciting to riot.

A cheering crowd of some 300 persons greeted Brown as he emerged from nine hours of incarceration. He did not speak to either the crowd or newsmen however, but drove off to an unspecified destination.

Brown was in Cambridge Monday night before a riot broke out there. Wednesday night the guardsmen, on duty since the first violence, dispersed crowds of both Negroes and whites in separate locations.

Phoenix police fought gangs of Negro youths for four hours before a rigidly enforced curfew coupled with systematic patrols and arrests combined to restore calm early today.

Sniper fire rang through the streets of Detroit last night as vandals looted stores without regard for their ownership. Ten youths were arrested when they broke the window of a Negro-owned liquor store.

In Toledo young Negro rowdies hurled bricks and bottles at firemen battling a drug store blaze. Police made 48 arrests before quelling the third straight night of vandalism in the city.

National Guard troops rolled into South Bend after bands of youthful Negroes staged a second night of rock throwing. Mayor Lloyd Allen imposed a general curfew before he called for the guard.

Los Angeles police said several gasoline bombs lit the streets of that city's Watts section early today and roving bands of youths were seen. The neighborhood was the site of rioting in 1965.

In Michigan, six cities outside of Detroit that had been hit over the last few days were relatively peaceful overnight.

Lt. Gen. John Throckmorton, military commander in Detroit, vowed to continue the process of rooting out the remaining nests of snipers.

The damage toll soared to $500 million and was expected to mount. More than 1,000 persons had been injured.

The Detroit Common Council passed an ordinance in emergency session Wednesday aimed at halting food profiteering in the riot-torn section. Milk was reported being sold at $1 a quart by some merchants.

Gun dealers reported the demand for weapons high in some white areas but most stores voluntarily imposed an embargo on such sales.

11 GIs Killed by Reds' Rockets, Mortars

SAIGON (AP) — Communist gunners unleashed a heavy rocket and mortar attack on an American infantry camp and adjoining airfield north of Saigon today, killing 11 U.S. soldiers and wounding 43.

At the same time two nearby South Vietnamese installations came under similar attack. South Vietnamese headquarters did not announce military casualties but said three civilians were killed and 13 wounded in one of the barrages.

Ground action continued light, as it has been for almost a month, and the scarcity of major action was reflected by a slight decline in the weekly casualty figures. The U.S. Command said 164 Americans were

Children, Migrant Victims Of Accidental Drownings

Three persons, including two children, were victims of accidental drownings in the area on Wednesday. One child had just completed swimming instructions when she lost her life in a Dutchess County lake.

The victims were: Glenn Alexander, 18, of Sanford, Fla., a migrant worker who drowned in a pond at the Palladino farm on Old Route 9W, Highland, at 7:30 p. m. yesterday.

Gail Mills, 10, of 17 Flora Road, Peekskill, who lost her life in Luddington Lake, Town of Beekman, Dutchess County, at 11:25 a. m. yesterday.

Raymond Holland, 6, a ward of the New York City Welfare Department, who drowned while swimming with about 15 other youths in a lake at Camp St. Vincent De Paul in the Sullivan County community of Glen Wild. State Police said the boy's disappearance was not noticed immediately. His body was recovered by a lifeguard.

Alexander was swimming in a pond on the Palladino farm with four other migrant workers when he drowned despite attempts by others to rescue him.

Alexander's body was recovered by Joseph Clark and Robert Graney of the Port Ewen Fire Department, who participated with others in grappling operations.

According to investigators, Alexander and the other workers went swimming after leaving the apple orchards at Palladino's. The five men including Alexander started to swim across the pond with Raymond Cooper, 18, in the lead and the victim second in line.

Authorities said Alexander was about two-thirds across the pond when he apparently suffered a seizure and went below the surface. Coroner Keyser said Cooper saw his friend in trouble and swam to his aid. As Cooper grabbed hold of his friend, he was pulled under and nearly drowned, authorities reported. He managed to make it up to shore.

The victim came to this area some time ago with an uncle, Isaac Alexander.

Fishkill State Police said the 10-year-old Peekskill girl had just completed swimming instructions by staff members and her mother, Mrs. Virginia Mills, at about 11:20 a. m., at the Town of Beekman lake at a Girl Scouts camp. She was last seen on a dock five minutes before she was missed.

Ulster Dem Questions Ethics In Board's Purchase of Land

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

A Town of Ulster Democrat has questioned the ethics involved in the Republican Town Board's agreeing to purchase 5.3 acres of land at $22,000 from a Republican assessor of the town.

Bruce I. Burgher, acting Democratic Town chairman, has said that "people have been questioning" the contract which the Town Board entered into, and that "in June, the intention had been to purchase six and one-half acres at $23,000 but, come July, after the land had been appraised, it was found that there were only 5.3 acres, so the purchase price was dropped $1,000."

"This means," continued Burgher, "that the one acre we are not buying cost approximately $1,000" whereas the remaining 5.3 "cost about $4,000 apiece."

Burgher went on to say that Town Board officials only went so far as to "look at the property the Town owned, and the land the Town Assessor, Joseph Lohmaier, owned."

The decision was to buy Lohmaier's land.

Supervisor Responds
Thaddeus Musialkiewicz, Republican supervisor of the town, claims that the reason for the board's desire to purchase the property, rests in the fact that existing Town buildings are inadequate and that more land is needed for expansion.

"We are contemplating a Town garage and a Town building," said Musialkiewicz, and he stressed the point that, "I have my office in my store and one assessor has his office in his own home." He also said that the Town had to rent the local Grange Hall in order for Justices of the Peace to have their offices there.

Musialkiewicz said the Lohmaier land "is a good piece of land" that is in a central position and can serve as a "good distributing point" for Town vehicles.

The Supervisor also said that the purchasing of land from an elected official "has to be exposed" and it was exposed "to the press. He added that Burgher's public questionings 'are nothing more than political' and that, at any rate, "we are waiting for a decision from a State Supreme Court Justice" to render a legal opinion on any possible conflict of interest involved in the purchase.

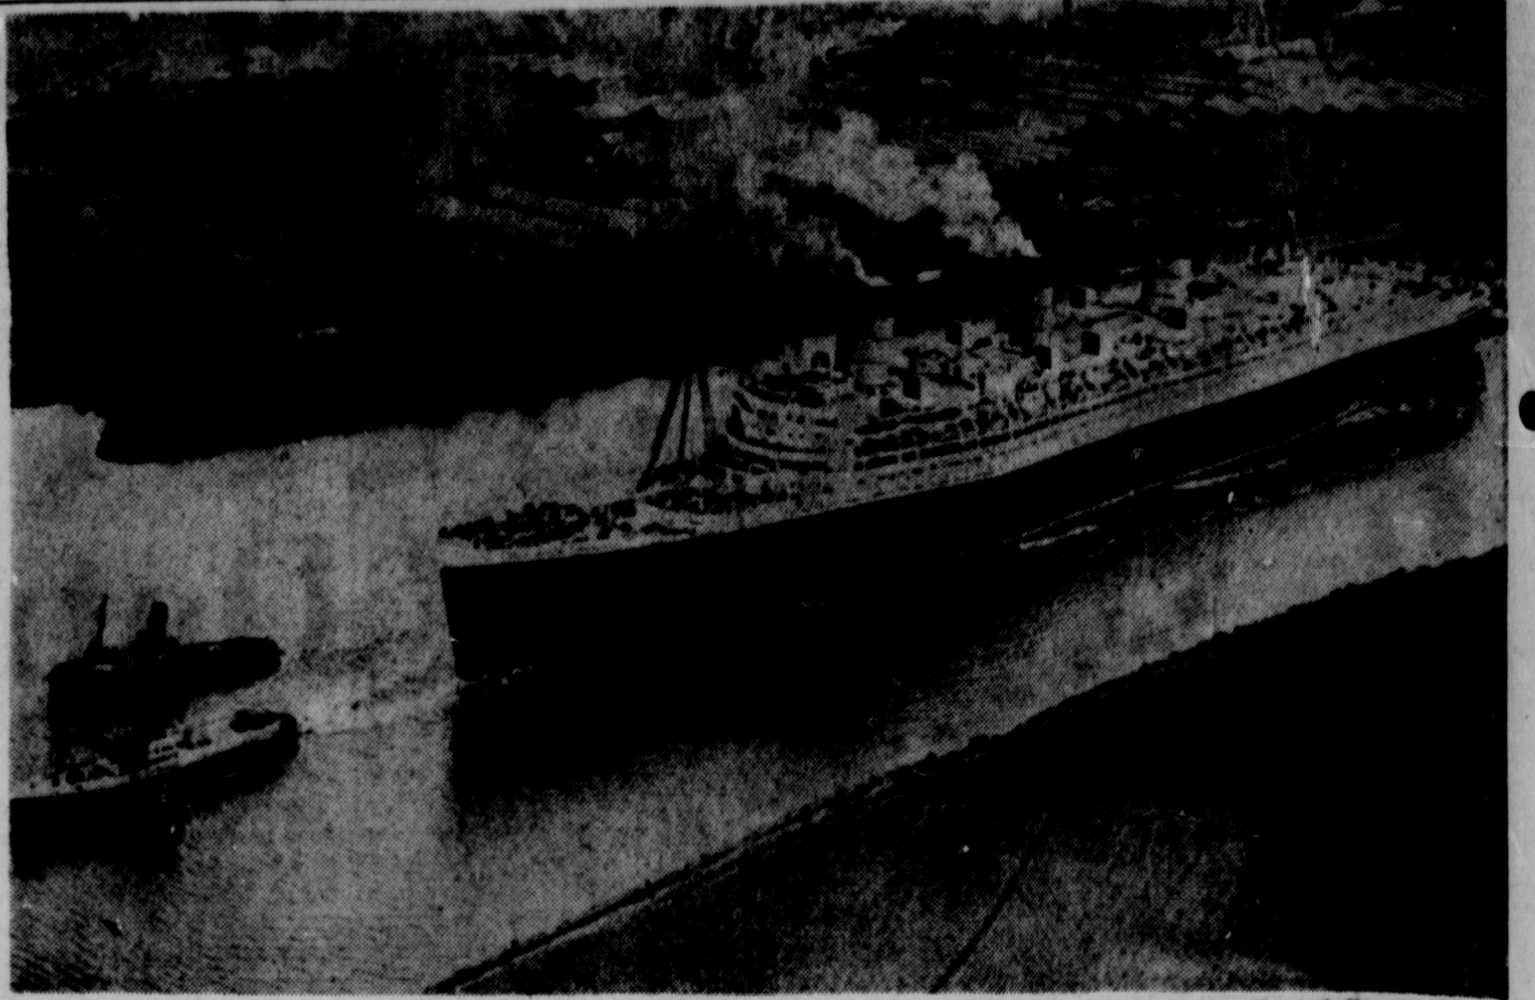

Musialkiewicz also stated that "my interest in the Town of Ulster is to get it moving."

Democrat Burgher, commenting on the Supervisor's claim that he wants to see Town progress, said that "Musialkiewicz has been on the Town Board for 10 years" and that conditions have "not changed drastically since that time."

Burgher also said that outside of one Democratic Road Commissioner elected back in 1959, there has been "no Democrat on the Town Board for 25 to 30 years" and he said that this kind of thing leads to certain "disregard of the public trust," as he claimed was evidence in the present case.

Supervisor Musialkiewicz said that even when the Board was informed that the original 6.5 acres of Lohmaier land turned out to be 5.3 at $1,000 less, "the Board still authorized me to enter into the agreement" and that "vote was unanimous."

The Republican official further stated that the reason behind the construction of a new Town garage was that the present garage is so inadequate "that some Town vehicles have to be placed outside" the confines of the building.

Counselor Named

College Gets Grant

Ulster County Community College has received an $11,444 federal grant for an occupational counseling program which will be started next month by a newly named occupational programs counselor, George B. Erbstein, president, said today.

The counselor, whose salary will be paid out of the grant funds, is Jack C. Van Newkirk, Accord, who for the last two years has been employed as an admissions counselor at the State University at New Paltz.

"This occupational programs counseling concept is a forward looking step for community colleges and it will provide the special counseling services much needed by our two-year, career program students. In addition, it will assist local business, industry and public services."

Act as Liaison
The counselor will serve as a liaison between the college and local businesses and industries to determine occupational program needs. He also will interpret occupational curricula to area high school students and guidance personnel.

In addition, the counselor will develop an intensive specialized advancement program for students in the occupational programs and develop a comprehensive resource collection in regard to careers. He also will advise students in regard to specific placement opportunities.

The college received the federal grant for this new service under the Vocational Education Act of 1963, with approval being given by the Division of Higher Education.

Van Newkirk, married and the father of two children, received a BS degree in education from West Chester State College in West Chester, Pa., and an MS degree in education from the University of Maryland.

Before going to State University College at New Paltz, he had considerable teaching experience in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Van Newkirk was listed in Who's Who in America Universities and Colleges in 1958, and has served as a Junior Chamber of Commerce president. He is a member of the Association of College Admissions Counselors and the New York State Personnel and Guidance Association, and is a member of several other national, state and local educational associations.

UCCCC Budget Hearing

A public hearing on the Ulster Community College 1967-68 operating budget will be held at 7:30 p. m. today at the Board of Supervisors room in the County Office Building. The public hearing on the $1,189,895 budget will be followed by a special meeting of the board of supervisors at 8:30 p. m.

While the operating appropriations will be $1,189,895, this will be offset by an estimated revenue of $851,294 and appropriated surplus of $137,111, a total of $988,405. The amount to be raised through local appropriations under the tentative budget is $233,990. This is $4,990 more than in 1966-67.

In addition to discussion, and possible approval of the Community College budget, the supervisors will reconsider steps toward meeting requirements for state approval of the TB hospital for infirmary purposes.

At the last meeting of the board a resolution by Majority Leader Douglas Dye (R), Town of Kingston, was tabled on motion of Democratic Supervisor George Majestic, Gardiner, for further study. The Dye resolution called for naming of Albert E. Milliken as architect to prepare preliminary plans and make a study of plans for a permanent infirmary of some 200 beds.

Before the State will grant a certificate for use of the TB Hospital facilities for county infirmary purposes, a letter of intent as well as other evidence of sincerity is required. The Dye resolution was designed to meet that demand. A letter of intent has already been filed with the State.

The only other business to come before the board is a request of District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca to attend a conference.

Losses From Rioting

Homes, Stores Razed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With a full accounting still months away, the toll on homes and businesses in the current, widespread racial violence already stands at more than 400 homes and nearly 4,000 businesses destroyed or damaged.

Most of the devastation has come in Detroit, still under siege, where officials could only guess that "from 300 to 3,000" persons were left homeless.

The officials there said Wednesday that at least 1,500 businesses were looted and that there were more than 1,300 fires.

Many of the homeless lived in tenements above stores that were burned out.

There were some 400 houses damaged in Newark, N.J., alone in rioting July 21. Of 783 stores hit 16 were recorded as destroyed and 86 heavily damaged.

Many communities were unable to supply up to date figures as the wave of violence continued across the nation late Wednesday and early today.

Cincinnati officials estimated a total $250,000 damage in the city's latest outbreak of Negro rioting.

Dayton, Ohio, reported damage estimated at $100,000 without a breakdown on buildings affected.

Officials in Boston and Rochester, N.Y., said they had no final damage statistics.

DeFelicis Questions Reid's Timing On Rosendale Village Liquidation

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.

Liquidation of the incorporated Village of Rosendale and setting up a town form of government to include the village and township, has again been proposed, this time by incumbent Mayor Joseph S. Reid, who has left the hotel business to devote his full time to serving the public.

Reid told The Freeman that he plans to compile facts and figures involved in the plan and submit them to the residents of the village and town for study, and later arrange for a referendum to decide the issue.

Beaten Before

Commenting on Reid's proposal, Supervisor Gerard DeFelicis said he was not opposed to a referendum but in his opinion it is a case of "Johnny come late." "If he felt so strongly about the liquidation of the village before election as he does now," DeFelicis said, "why didn't he submit the plan to the voters at the last election?"

DeFelicis noted that the same plan had been submitted to the voters "eight or ten" years ago, with facts and figures, and the issue was defeated at that time.

Reid contends that with the village liquidated and the expansion of the town to take in the entire Rosendale area, duplication of offices would be eliminated and eventually taxes could be reduced. He cited for example that the present supervisor further stated that duties of the mayor could be performed by the town supervisor, the duties of the village high village costs, and he added, "I feel they want someone to the town treasurer and so to bail them out."

DeFelicis said he also feels that there is some merit to the proposed plan the present du-proposal, but in his opinion the plication of public office employees would be eliminated.

Concedes Duplication Conceding that there is some duplication of offices, DeFelicis said that the village administrative office costs run roughly only about $2,300 a year. The that Reid has broken contracts and lost fees "by mishandling" administrative matters in the village.

Reid's contention is that under a town form of government to include the village, the administration could function with more efficiency. Under the suggested plan property owners within the village would be taxed for the balance of the bonded indebtedness the village had at the time of disbanding the corporation.

"There are a lot of surplus properties that the village could sell," Reid said. "That would reduce the bonded indebtedness."

Duplication of equipment and costs of maintaining town equipment would be reduced under the plan.

DeFelicis emphasized that he favors "home rule government." Reid said that the village, which incorporated in 1890 "has outlived its usefulness."

The mayor expects to have the facts and figures he referred to ready to submit to the public for study, and later arrange for a referendum to decide the issue. He feels that it would be about six months before a vote would be taken.

Duryea Bristles ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — One of the state's leading Republicans is boiling in anger over what he sees as the Constitutional Convention's failure to conduct "more meaningful" working sessions.

A red-faced Perry B. Duryea Jr. rose on the convention floor Wednesday, bristling in irritation over the Democratic majority's decision to postpone action on its entire, four-item docket until Monday.

Said Duryea, a convention vice president: "I can't see that this kind of performance ever will bring great credit to the delegates."

Cries of Outrage As Duryea spoke, the convention's top-ranking Republican, Minority Leader Earl W. Brydges sat glumly at his side. Duryea's remarks snapped some delegates to attention. Democrats predictably responded to his attack with cries of outrage.

Duryea observed that Democratic Delegate Erastus Corning II, the mayor of Albany, had forecast on Tuesday that the convention would fail to meet its self-imposed Sept. 26 deadline for revising the constitution.

Brydges had rejected Corning's thesis. "I must say now I can understand why that statement was made," Duryea said of Corning's prediction.

Questioned later by newsmen, he added, "It begins to look less likely" that the convention will meet its deadline.

Duryea, a 6-foot, four-inch Montauk businessman, observed that Democrats often compared the convention to an iceberg, holding that much of its work was not visible, performed largely in committee sessions.

Weinstein Replies The chief floor spokesman for the Democratic majority, Majority Leader Moses M. Weinstein, returned the fire, accusing Duryea of "very poor sportsmanship."

Weinstein praised the committee's efforts, which he said would bring the work of the convention to the floor.

Supporting him was another Democrat, Justice Bernard Botwin, who said Duryea was "wrongly putting the sound and fury of convention sessions ahead of the more important committee work."

Policies Differ WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Department policy in assigning enlisted men to Vietnam varies among the services and, for instance, permits the Army to send to the warfront a soldier with as few as 90 days left in his tour of duty.

On the other hand, the Pentagon said Wednesday Navy enlisted men are eligible for Vietnam duty only if they still have 16 months remaining in their tour. Naval officers, however, can be sent to Vietnam with just 12 months left in their tour.

Charges False Claiming that the services "produce savings to the membership with minimum profit," the vice-president further went on to say that, "The idea that Farm Bureau or its affiliated services produces big income for (the) leadership is false. Most (of the) Farm Bureau leadership receives no pay or only token pay for the time spent away from the farm."

"The Congressman should make an effort to get acquainted with the kind of people who serve in many non-profit capacities like school boards, church leadership, cooperative leadership, etc. These are the people who contribute much time and effort to make rural America a fine place to live."

Vice President Greig said that, "The Congressman has probably been too preoccupied with promoting the national deficit and solving the problems of the Southern States to become acquainted with farm leadership or farm organizations. His contempt for farmers shows poor taste even if we are a small minority group."

Greig went on to stress his point that, "if Internal Revenue investigates Farm Bureau, I predict that Mr. Resnick's accusations will be found (to be) without substance," and he added, "It is unfortunate that a man with such misinformation holds a position of such national responsibility."

The Farm Bureau executive concluded his remarks by saying, "It is understanding why Congressman Resnick votes badly on agricultural issues. I wonder if his voting on other issues is also based on prejudice instead of fact. To be positive in a loud voice is often to be wrong."

Robert Greig of Red Hook said that "Farm Bureau does speak for farmers. I know of no organization with greater membership participation in policy development. Farmers study, discuss, and debate the issues. Farm Bureau policies are agreed upon at county, state, and national levels by majority rule."

The Farm Bureau executive listed services rendered to members of the organization as being: "marketing service, farm appraisal, farm accounting, insurance, mutual fund, farm supplies."

Greig said these services were provided by separate companies which "are not tax exempt."

Farm Bureau Issue A vice-president of the New York Farm Bureau has hit back at Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Ellenville) today charging that the "Farm Bureau is not dominated by non-farmers" that "the idea that the Bureau includes only wealthy farmers is false" and he added that farmer services "are provided by separate service companies that are not tax exempt."

Robert Greig of Red Hook said that "Farm Bureau does speak for farmers. I know of no organization with greater membership participation in policy development. Farmers study, discuss, and debate the issues. Farm Bureau policies are agreed upon at county, state, and national levels by majority rule."

The Farm Bureau executive listed services rendered to members of the organization as being: "marketing service, farm appraisal, farm accounting, insurance, mutual fund, farm supplies."

Greig said these services were provided by separate companies which "are not tax exempt."

Charges False Claiming that the services "produce savings to the membership with minimum profit," the vice-president further went on to say that, "The idea that Farm Bureau or its affiliated services produces big income for (the) leadership is false. Most (of the) Farm Bureau leadership receives no pay or only token pay for the time spent away from the farm."

"The Congressman should make an effort to get acquainted with the kind of people who serve in many non-profit capacities like school boards, church leadership, cooperative leadership, etc. These are the people who contribute much time and effort to make rural America a fine place to live."

Vice President Greig said that, "The Congressman has probably been too preoccupied with promoting the national deficit and solving the problems of the Southern States to become acquainted with farm leadership or farm organizations. His contempt for farmers shows poor taste even if we are a small minority group."

Greig went on to stress his point that, "if Internal Revenue investigates Farm Bureau, I predict that Mr. Resnick's accusations will be found (to be) without substance," and he added, "It is unfortunate that a man with such misinformation holds a position of such national responsibility."

The Farm Bureau executive concluded his remarks by saying, "It is understanding why Congressman Resnick votes badly on agricultural issues. I wonder if his voting on other issues is also based on prejudice instead of fact. To be positive in a loud voice is often to be wrong."

He's Not a Good Guest

We don't ever think we will invite French President De Gaulle to our house. Not if his actions in French-speaking Canada were any indication of how grand Charles acts when he is out in public.

During a well publicized tour from Quebec to Montreal — and cheered all the way by French-speaking Canadians — the French president affronted his Canadian hosts by exhorting his French cousins to pull out of the Canadian mainstream and form a separate country.

This is hardly the way for a guest to act toward a host.

Washington has its first portable playstreet. Play equipment lines a street from now until August 28, when it will be removed and the street opened again to traffic. Dedicated by Vice President Humphrey, the playstreet not only shuts out traffic but provides apparatus for the children's amusement.

The causes of Negro unrest in the slums?

Many have been suggested..

The lack of jobs.

Shameful housing.

Exclusion from the general prosperity.

Countless daily humiliations.

Powerlessness.

No voice in local government.

Worst of all, poor schools.

Worst of all, we repeat, poor schools.

Many have been willing to endure anything for themselves as long as there was the prospect, the hope, that their children would not follow in their sorry footsteps.

But if the schools are inferior...

Discontent, bitterness, frustration and hopelessness result.

Imagine the despair of the deep-seated conviction that not only they, but even their children, are trapped.

"There is a contest going on in this country on the civil-rights front," says Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"The contest is between those who believe in law and order and those who say the only way to make you believe in law and order is for us to riot."

"More and more people," says Wilkins, "are convinced that the white society does not become concerned until Negroes interfere with the machinery, regardless of whether it's sensible or not."

Wilkins says that the same people who first refuse to look at the problems in jobs, housing, schools and police-community relations come to him after a riot.

"Wilkins," they say, "you still think you can get something done through established channels?"

Please don't close the established channels.

We respectfully ask those in positions of authority to understand, to pay attention to the poor, to leave the doors open, to keep the channels of communication functioning, to wield a light gavel, to refrain from enforcing gag rules and the like.

Our advice is the same to both sides in any vital dispute.

Respect each other.

Listen to each other.

And don't let anger drown understanding.

The Consolidated School is a familiar development throughout the country. Now Maryland is talking about consolidating its tiny incorporated towns to form larger, more efficient units. It may be a way to insure their continued autonomy under a new state constitution about to be drafted.

Just back from South Korea, Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina said the North Koreans might break out at any time and cross the 38th parallel to divert United States military forces from Vietnam. Thurmond is a retired Army Reserve General. His forecast could cause us trouble.

A House Foreign Affairs subcommittee reports that the Fidel Castro regime supports guerrilla forces in four Latin American nations and plots against others. No wonder the South American nations want a blockade to halt Castro's export of subversion to their continent.

It seems a dirty trick for the military regime of Greece to deprive Melina Mercouri of her citizenship and appropriate her property while she is starring on Broadway spreading the hearty customs of Greece before appreciative audiences. The regime needs a public relations expert.

Placing Blame for Riots On a Variety of Causes

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 26—Fear of punishment has long been a natural deterrent to crime, but the gradual decline in the chances of detection or of imprisonment is the main cause of the breakdown today on law and order in America.

Mobs of looters and pillagers have swept cities across the land, but they never would have taken the risk against officers of the law if the police had not been deprived of one of the principal weapons of law enforcement—a readiness to act quickly in arresting and, if necessary, subduing a law-breaker.

Hesitant

Local police who are trained to pull no punches when they see anyone engaged in violence have become hesitant to act. Indeed, they are accused of "brutality" when they do their duty. That's why national guardsmen—and, in the latest case, federal troops—were mobilized in desperation only after a city was first ravaged by a lawless minority.

While the wrongdoers are by no means of one race or color, they have a common instinct—to take advantage of the confusion to begin looting.

What has started it all? Members of Congress, in their speeches this week, place the blame on various things, including the ease with which guns can be bought by mail and the identity of the purchasers hidden. For several years now, moreover, the nation has been misled into thinking that "demonstrations" and "marches" are merely the exercise of freedom of speech. Although the Supreme Court has again and again in past decades affirmed the principle that a public utterance which incites to crime is not immune from prosecution, the instances nowadays in which individuals who made inflammatory talks were arrested and punished are rare indeed.

The recent Supreme Court must share some of the blame. It has interfered with the normal processes of crime detection, and it has made it possible for murderers to be liberated on technicalities after the police have interrogated them earnestly in order to elicit confessions. Also the high court has nullified many state court decisions against persons convicted of trespass and disorderly conduct.

Criticisms on this point and on other factors which have reduced the effectiveness of local police are not confined to enraged citizens in a stricken community. Several prominent jurists have themselves spoken out along the same line. Thus, Charles E. Whittaker, formerly an associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, wrote an article a few months ago entitled "The Effects of Planned, Mass Disobedience of Our Laws," which was printed in the "FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin." It reads in part as follows:

"While all of our crime is not due to any one cause, it can hardly be denied that a large part of our current rash and rapid spread of lawlessness has derived from planned and organized mass disrespect for, and defiance of, the law and the courts, induced by the irresponsible and inflammatory preachments of some self-appointed leaders of minority groups 'to obey the good laws, but to violate the bad ones'— which, of course, simply advocates violation of the laws they do not like, or, in other words, the taking of the law into their own hands....

"The remedy is as plain as the threat. It is simply to insist that our governments, State and Federal, reassume and discharge their 'first duty' of protecting the people against lawless invasions upon their persons and property by the impartial and vigorous enforcement of our criminal laws and by the swift, certain and substantial punishment thereunder of all persons whose conduct violates those laws."

There is another underlying weakness. It is the hesitancy of politicians in government to use the powers of law enforcement promptly and intensively for fear of political backfires. A reluctance to call in troops or to instruct the police to take stern measures in preserving order has encouraged mob rule. Wavering and vacillation tend to give the malcontents an impression of official timidity.

But the mass of voters, however, is growing disillusioned with public officials who seem to be thinking of bloc votes in the big cities instead of doing their duty not merely in preserving order when rioting occurs but in ferreting out the prime instigators.

J. Edgar Hoover --- 50th Anniversary

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI was a pretty crummy outfit when he took it over, full of political pets and incompetents. He quickly built it into an American institution. It's been that way since.

In three years he had cleaned out the misfits and put it on its feet. This has been a great satisfaction to J. Edgar Hoover but peace of mind doesn't always accompany satisfaction.

He has been picked and pecked at almost from the beginning. Some times he has reacted with heat. Much of the criticism has been ludicrous.

Hoover had been a lawyer with the Department of Justice seven years when he was chosen at 29 to head the bureau of investigation, which wasn't called the Federal Bureau of Investigation until 1935.

Now 72

He is 72 now and yesterday was the 50th anniversary of the start of his government service. He has headed the FBI 43 years. In the government, retirement is mandatory at 70 but in his case President Johnson waived that requirement.

He set the course the FBI has followed from the day the then-attorney general, Harlan Fiske Stone, offered him the job. He said he would accept only on these conditions:

He would run the agency. Politicians couldn't tell him what to do or whom to hire. Appointments would be by merit and so would advancement. He staffed the FBI with young lawyers and accountants as agents whose number has risen from 441 to 6,625.

Before they are accepted they must survive an investigation of their conduct, common sense and loyalty. They have to go through a 14-week training course.

The year after he took the job Hoover laid down a rule which still is in effect: an agent must by his conduct eliminate criticism. Even in their clothing the agents are inconspicuous.

Agency Ahead

Hoover put the FBI ahead of most of the nation's police departments — probably all of them — in 1926 when he warned his agents never to use threats or inducements to get confessions. You never hear of FBI agents using third-degree. It has been a rather stylish tradition among some liberals to criticize Hoover as

Marshall Plan for Cities

WASHINGTON—What the United States needs today is a giant Marshall Plan to rebuild the ghettos of our big cities and rehabilitate their people.

We spent several billion rebuilding the ruined cities of Europe after World War II and putting both our allies and our enemies back on their feet. It was a good investment. We still spend about three billions a year to battle communism around the world.

Meanwhile, we have Negro insurrection in our major cities with effects worse than communism, all because we refuse to remedy the basic causes—poverty, slum housing, overcrowded schools, inadequate teachers, alcoholism, and crime. These are conditions which the communist countries that we oppose abroad have remedied but which get progressively worse in America.

Chances Nil

The chances of getting a Marshall Plan for America through Congress, however, are almost nil — for two reasons:

1—The violence of the American Negro which has turned public sentiment against him. He is his own worst enemy. The more he wreaks vengeance on the white man, the more the white man, who is in a majority, turns against him.

2—The make-up of Congress which is elected by white, rural America, with the small towns holding control of the key committee chairmanships. Men like Rep. William Colmer of Mississippi, who heads the Rules Committee and can control which legislation reaches the House for a vote, is not going to help push a Marshall Plan for America. As a result of riots, more and more Northern Congressmen are now lining up with the South.

Slapping Down the Cities

Both points are illustrated by what happened in Congress last week. While Negro violence spread from Newark to Plainfield, to Detroit, the House of Representatives laughed down a relatively small appropriation of $20,000,000 to fight slum rats, and earlier cut the model cities program in half while killing rent subsidies altogether.

In contrast, it voted $750-

000 last week to study a canal between Pittsburgh and Lake Erie which almost no one except Rep. Mike Kirwan, D-Ohio, wants; earlier voted $10,000,000 to build a fancy fish aquarium for the District of Columbia which few people wanted; has voted many millions over the years to clean water hyacinths out of Southern waterways because they clog the propellers of pleasure boats; allocated $20,000,000 to switch a Food and Drug laboratory from Beltsville, Md., to Madison, Wis., and earlier voted money for a cotton-wood control station in the Mississippi district of Rep. Jamie Whitten and a peanut laboratory in Sen. Dick Russell's state of Georgia because these two powerful rural solons held up the farm bill appropriation until they got what they wanted.

Last week, in further contrast, the House voted an anti-riot bill which many Congressmen consider unconstitutional and which will do nothing to stop the basic cause of the race riots.

In view of the above, there is little chance of a Marshall Plan for America to bring better housing, new schools, better teachers and job training to the big cities. And probably there will be no chance as long as Negro demands are made at the point of the brick, the sniper's bullet, and the Molotov cocktail.

However, what the white rural Congress must realize is that people who have nothing to lose aren't scared of anything. So they'll continue fighting and rioting and brick-throwing until they've got something to lose.

Ambition and Dignity

Vice President Humphrey, who is LBJ's trouble-shooter on race relations, has been reminding Negro leaders that the Irish, the Jews and the Italians, and quite recently the Cubans migrated to this country and pulled themselves up to being leaders of the community without government grants; therefore, Negroes should do the same.

But history shows that when the Irish first invaded America there were race riots in New York and Philadelphia which made the Newark and Detroit riots look like Sunday school picnics. There were also serious Negro riots. Against 26 killed in Newark in 1967, there were 1,200 people killed in New York in 1862, because Negroes were blamed for the Civil War Draft Act.

History also shows that during 350 years of American slavery the Negro was kept in a state of bartered serfdom in which he lost the human qualities so necessary to taking an important place in modern society. He lost ambition and he lost dignity.

No human being could cherish ambition when he could look forward to nothing more than future years of slavery. And few men could keep their dignity when subject to the absolute order of other men who own them.

The Irish, the Italians, the other immigrants to this country threw off their shackles of serfdom several centuries before they came to this country. Pride and ambition drove them and their sons forward to becoming mayors of American cities, judges, Congressmen and Presidents of the United States.

They had a long head start over the Negro. This is what some of our rural Congressmen need to realize when they laughingly veto money to eradicate rats, or kill rent subsidies or ridicule the Anti-Poverty Program, or hamstring the model cities project. These are just drops in the bucket toward a Marshall Plan for America so badly needed to remedy our most dangerous and depressing domestic problem.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

July 27, 1947 — Edward Young, 85, of Milton Engine Company No. 1, was the oldest fireman at the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Convention.

A 77-year old Hudson man was killed in a collision on the Rip Van Winkle Bridge. The driver of the other car was reportedly driving a stolen vehicle. He escaped.

July 27, 1957 — The Kingston Police Board planned to appoint two sergeants. Tops on the list were William F. Hanley and Detective Frank E. Sammons.

J. EDGAR HOOVER

or forgotten is that Hoover has never sought to extend his power but, on the other hand, opposed its extension.

Opposed FDR

He opposed President Franklin D. Roosevelt's idea that the FBI should take over all federal investigations.

In the 1930s, when the country was shaken by spreading gangsterism and killings and demands were being made to federalize the nation's police, he opposed that, too.

He has insisted from the beginning that local problems of law and order are the jurisdiction of the local authorities, not the FBI.

In Roosevelt's day there were reports that liberals in his administration were turning sour on Hoover fearing he had too much authority. At the same time KU KLUX Klan leaders were trying to get him out. He was criticized for the way he made it. This has been an endless story. It just takes new variations from power but, on the other hand, criticized him almost never holding a news conference, and being very hard for newsmen to see individually, although he is not required to hold such conferences and whether he does or not is strictly his privilege.

Hoover summed up his bureau's problems in 1956 when he said of civil rights cases, the FBI is unpopular if it obtains facts which result in prosecutions and it is unpopular if it doesn't.

He told his agents: "Our sole purpose is to do our job objectively." It is hard to think of anything more impressive in government service than the FBI record ranging from its success with gangsters and Nazi saboteurs to cutting the American Communist party to pieces by infiltrating it.

Do You Remember

By Sophie Miller

An interesting article appeared in the Holiday magazine of September, 1949. This issue covered the Hudson River, with a painting of the Clermont on the front cover going along the Hudson River. This article is by the famous Hudson River author, Carl Carmer. There is a story on Rhinebeck, which I never heard before. It seems, Rhinebeck is known for its violets, and provides the American flower market with 90 per cent of the violets it sells. Rhinebeck earth produces more and better violets than any other known soil. Carl Carmer writes, that although carloads of the soil have been shipped to other vicinities, the violets will not grow as well in it after it has been moved. No one seems to know why. Mr. Carmer writes, So many residents of Rhinebeck add glass covered hothouses to their land and sell violets in the spring.

Another interesting note I found in the 1860 Gazetteer of New York State, concerns how Red Hook received its name. The location was called Roode Hoek by the Dutch. Rhinebeck ascribes the name of the town to a marsh near Tivoli, which was covered with ripe cranberries when first seen.

It is said that Dutchess County produces some of the best and most valuable Black Angus cattle in the world. They made a handsome showing every year at the Dutchess County Fair in Rhinebeck. This year the famous fair will be held from Aug. 22 to 27, and I understand it is the 122nd such fair held in Dutchess County.

JP's Questioned

In our modern and ever more complex day and age, and with our laws still allowing persons who are not lawyers to become Justices of the Peace, the lack of legal experience and training of these people very often inclines them to turn "the poor man's court" into a sort of "intellectual concentration camp."

There could be no more realistic nor basic threat to freedom. Naturally, there will be found a few amongst the many who are somewhat qualified, but this does not alter the fact that the great majority of these untrained persons in office are continuously demonstrating their unfitness.

The time for the legislature to deal effectively with this threat is now—while there still is time. Unless the ways of men have suddenly and mysteriously changed, then eternal vigilance does still remain the price of democracy—a price which thoughtful Americans still remain quite willing to pay.

A Viet Plan

This is in response to your editorial (July 21) regarding the $15 to $20-billion deficit the nation probably can look forward to a year from now. It is obvious, I think, that such problems largely would dissolve if we could gracefully and honorably extract ourselves from the war.

It occurs to me that there is a simple and effective three-step method of doing this:

1. We manufacture another South Vietnam coup, deposing General Ky.

2. Then we have the new government say to us: "Thanks for all your help. You've done a magnificent job. Now we no longer need you."

3. We truly support our boys by bringing them home.

The benefits would be varied: The president undoubtedly would be re-elected, having proved that he is a man of peace. Whatever "face" America still has left in the world would be saved. Deficit spending would no longer be worrisome, and the government could get on with its anti-poverty war. And most importantly, the president's Vietnam adventure would have ceased.

Ferroxcube Employees To Vote Anew on IUE

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.
Employees of Ferroxcube Corporation of America, Saugerties, will have the opportunity, probably within the next few months, to again vote at a National Labor Relations Board election for the right of bargaining with the International Union of Electrical Workers, it was learned today.

A Nov. 23, 1965 election was set aside by the NLRB on recommendation of a trial examiner, who found after a hearing that the corporation had "engaged in certain unfair labor practices." A new election was ordered.

The results of the 1965 election were that 388 votes were cast for and 417 were against the union. Six days after the election the union filed timely objections and on Dec. 9, 1965 it filed charges alleging that Ferroxcube by statements made by its president Ned Bouymaster and supervisors, interfered with the free choice of the employees.

Charge Unfair Practices
The union charged that Ferroxcube had engaged in unfair labor practices.

A hearing was held in Kingston before Trial Examiner Melvin Pollack on Dec. 6, 7 and 8. Briefs filed by Arthur E. Neuberger, general counsel; Leonard Greenwald, counsel for the charging union, and Martin E. Skoler, attorney for the respondent, were considered.

Several witnesses for the union substantiated the charges. Some witnesses for Ferroxcube conceded that statements had been made involving "unlawful assistance" to the Round Table Committee.

In his decision, Pollack recommended further that the respondent "cease and desist" from such unfair labor practices alleged in the union's complaint, and take certain affirmative action. Pollack further found that the respondent had not engaged in certain other unfair labor practices and recommended dismissal as to them.

No Prejudicial Error
The NLRB reviewed the rulings of the trial examiner made at the hearing and found that no prejudicial error was committed. The rulings were affirmed.

The Board considered Pollack's decision, the exceptions and briefs by counsel, and the entire record in the case, and adopted the findings, conclusions and recommendations of the examiner, as modified.

In his decision the examiner held that a statement by the corporation's president that wage negotiations would start from "scratch" interfered with the election in November, 1965. However, Pollack held that a statement by Production Manager Harry Buback telling two employees that if the union got in negotiations would start at $1.25 an hour and not from the employees' present rate was "not coercive."

The NLRB did not agree on the latter finding and noted in a decision, order and direction of a second election, that Buback's remarks "were only a part of a series of similar statements which can only be construed reasonably as threats of loss of present benefits and economic reprisal if the union were designated."

The Board noted its opinion in the decision that Buback's statement was substantially the same as plant engineer John Rusack's "coercive comment" and that both of them were remarks such as the NLRB found "to constitute threats" violative of Section (a) (1) of the Act.

Accordingly, the Board found that by virtue of Buback's conduct in October (1965) Ferroxcube violated that section, and that Rusack's "unlawful threats" in November were not isolated.

In that connection the Board noted further that these "threats" by Buback and Rusack occurred against the background of the respondent's "conceded violations" of Section 8 (a) (2) by its "unlawful assistance" to the Round Table Committee.

Prefers Constitution Parley Lag

Rocky Sees Conflict

By CHARLES DUMAS
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller is not likely to admit it, but the fact is he wouldn't mind a bit if the Constitutional Convention failed to finish its work on time.

While most people at the Capitol are rooting for the convention to meet its Sept. 26 deadline, Rockefeller has a good reason of his own for hoping otherwise.

Involves Bond Plan
It involves the governor's plan for a $2.5-billion bond borrowing to improve mass transportation facilities across the state. The proposal is to appear on the Nov. 7 ballot.

According to persons close to Rockefeller, the governor has come to feel that the bond plan will have a better chance for voter approval if it is the only major question on the ballot.

Yet, if the convention meets its deadline, the new State Constitution will be put before the voters the same day.

Rockefeller is said to be concerned that his transport brainchild could be overshadowed — and perhaps lost in the shuffle — amid controversy over such constitutional issues as aiding parochial schools, lowering the voting age and keeping the forest preserve "forever wild." His anxiety is heightened by the fact that he is counting on proceeds from the transport bonds to help balance this year's budget and future budgets.

Sept. 26 became the deadline when Democratic and Republican convention leaders agreed that the proposed new Constitution should be voted upon in the general election of Nov. 7.

The present Constitution requires a six-week interval between completion of the convention's work and its submission to the voters. So, counting back from Nov. 7, you arrive at Sept. 26.

The alternative to submitting the product in the November election is to schedule a later, special election. But the leaders find this course distasteful.

One reason is a fear that, without the pressure of an approaching deadline, rank-and-file delegates will lapse into endless haggling over minor issues.

Another is the leaders' desire to have the largest possible number of voters participate in the balloting.

"The history of special elections is a history of very few people participating," GOP Minority Leader Earl W. Brydges told the convention this week.

Brydges commented after Delegate Erastus Corning II, the Democratic mayor of Albany, expressed doubt that the convention could finish on time. Corning prescribed a special election.

Like Rockefeller, Corning was said to have a good reason of his own for wanting a longer convention — its contribution to the economy of his city.

As long as the convention is in session, the delegates and many of their staff aides will be spending money for hotel rooms, meals, entertainment and so forth.

Roosa Suggests New RV Board

A former district superintendent of schools for the Rondout Valley School District called Rondout's budget "a record for the state" and, referring to a budget hearing that reportedly started at 7:30 and ended at 10:30 p. m. with voting following, said, "Nobody can digest that budget in three hours and stay over to vote."

Lester J. Roosa, speaking to the Citizens Organization of Marlborough recently said "this may have been all right years ago, but we are 1,000 times bigger now and matters cannot be treated as they were in the days of the little red school house."

Roosa further said "this board of Education hardly ever has had any opposition. They run year after year, so they must conclude you are satisfied with them. They have certain powers and duties and they can fall into a trap. They must have in this instance! These people are your representatives," Roosa said, adding, "Get some new ones, some people with constructive ideas." The former superintendent of schools went on to say that he could not defend the creation of two new administrative positions "at a time when the people were being hit so hard."

Will Petition
The Citizens Organization of Marlborough will petition the Board of Education for a referendum on voting procedures, and a committee has been formed to screen citizens who would be desirable as members of the Board of Education.

These citizens will be asked to become candidates as a public service. The members of the committee are Matthew Hasbrouck, Lester J. Roosa, Trudy Pagliaroni, Orvil E. Norman, Michael Antonelli and John Mills. A meeting of the executives and the new committee will be held at the home of Peter Forrester, treasurer of the Citizens group, to establish a course of action.

Joseph S. Reid, Mayor of Rosendale, and a member of the Citizens Organization, has offered to accompany a committee to Albany in his capacity of an elected official of the people, to see if something can be done regarding the controversial budget.

DeGaulle Confrontation With Politicos Assured

By DAVID MASON
PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's abortive Canadian venture will put to a trying test the loyalties of his Cabinet and his tissue-thin majority in the French National Assembly.

An accident of the calendar — it is vacation time in France — may save the 76-year-old president from an immediate political confrontation.

October Sparks Likely
But it appears certain to come, not only as a result of his conduct in Canada but also because of other actions which have aroused public opinion.

De Gaulle was elected to a second seven-year term in 1965 and assembly elections which came every five years were held last March. Thus the Gauls face no major test at the polls in the immediate future.

But when the assembly goes back to work in early October, the sparks may begin to fly.

The Canadian crisis, which grew out of what appeared to be a deliberately charted effort by De Gaulle to boost French Canadian separatism, stunned opinion in France. But so far there has been no concerted riposte by De Gaulle's political opposition.

Newspapers remain one of the few sounding boards at this time of the year. Almost unanimously — with the marked exception of the Communist party's Humanite — they have sharply rebuked De Gaulle for his behavior in Canada.

Ordinary Frenchmen, including many firmly in De Gaulle's camp, can make no sense out of his trumpeting the French Canadian separatist rallying cry of "Long live free Quebec." Frenchmen couldn't care less about French Canadian separatism. The president's espousal of the separatist cause was widely interpreted as a violation of an often-voiced Gaullist tenet — no interference in the affairs of another country.

Swipes at Two
Lesser French officials left behind when De Gaulle went to Canada would make no effort to explain away what happened there. "You can understand our position," one told a reporter.

There is some speculation that De Gaulle was trying to take a cut at both Britain and the United States by encouraging the French Canadians to go their own way. This would, it was suggested, swing a segment of the North American continent toward Paris and away from Britain, Ottawa and the United States.

Driver Injured, Cited in Crash

Gerald Rea, 22, of Glasco, was injured and cited for a vehicle and traffic violation Wednesday afternoon, after his car went out of control on Kings Highway, Town of Saugerties, and overturned.

Trooper Richard Dempsey of the Kingston substation said Rea was traveling north and negotiating a right curve when he lost control. The vehicle veered off the shoulder, rolled over ejecting the driver and continued to roll over until it came to a stop with the wheels upright.

Rea sustained bruises of the right shoulder. He was cited by Trooper A. J. Scarselli for driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent.

14,000 View Pageant On Mormon Origins

PALMYRA, N. Y. (AP) — A far-flung audience of 14,000 persons saw dramatic action on 25 stages ranging up, down and across nearby Hill Cumorah Wednesday during the third performance of "America's Witness for Christ."

The 30th Anniversary Mormon Pageant is the most impressive in its history. New costumes have been designed, some sets made more spectacular, and the stereophonic sound system expanded, Dr. Harold I. Hanson, director, said.

Four members of the Kingston Branch of the Mormon Church are in the cast. They are Carol and B. Violet Closs of Lake Katrine, Sheila E. Slight of 99 Yarmouth Street, this city and Kare Coddington of Red Hook.

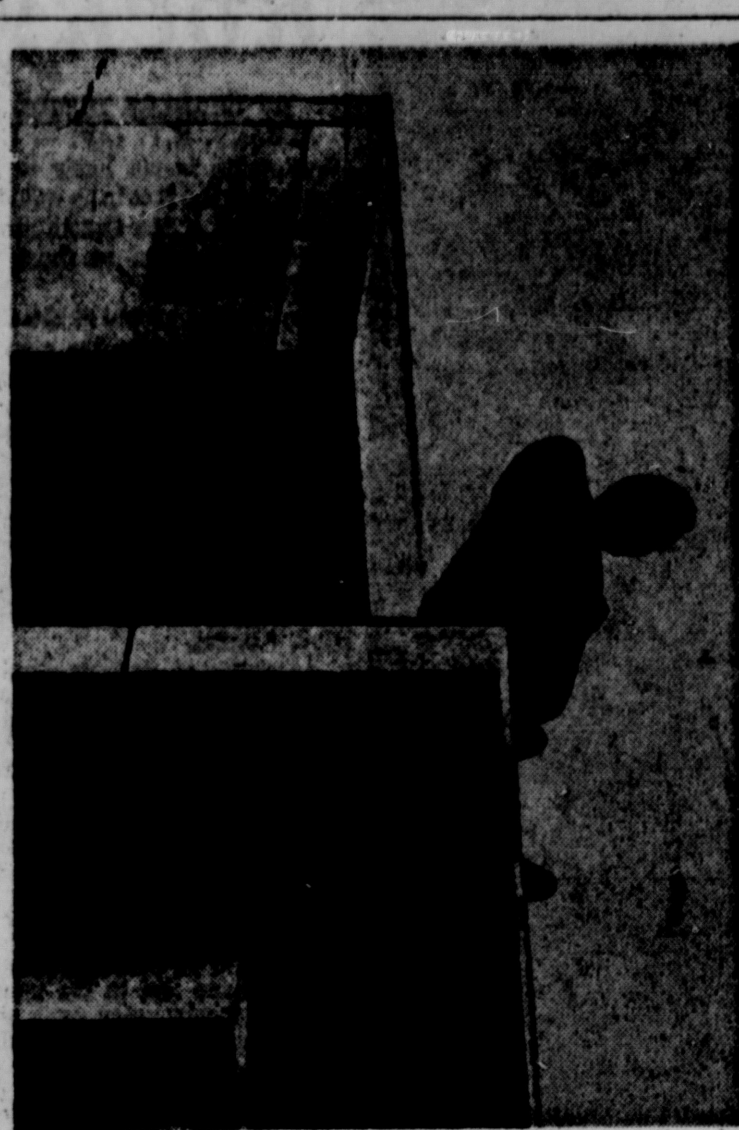

The audience, 5,000 greater than Wednesday night's attendance last year, saw a rich variety of scenes on the historic hill, cradle of the Mormon faith. Scenes of the nativity and ministry of Christ in the Holy Land were made mystical by multi-colored lights behind shimmering veils of water. Christ, dressed in white robes, moved down from the top of the hill in the final scene towards the raised hands of the entire cast of 400 brightly-costumed performers, the largest yet.

The performers pay their own travel and living expenses and consider it a high honor to be chosen to play parts in a pageant which so vividly dramatizes part of their religious belief.

They portrayed scenes of soldiers in gleaming armor rallying for battle, a prophet being burned at the stake, kings in sumptuous raiment reigning over glittering courts, the wicked city of Zarahemla was destroyed amid flashes of lightning, claps of thunder and the anguished cries of the doomed.

The pageant tells the story of how a group of Israelites sailed to the New World and founded a civilization after they were divinely warned to flee from Jerusalem. Jesus appeared to his "other sheep"—his followers in the New World, before the civilization was split by warring factions and destroyed. The prophet Mormon inscribes their history on golden plates, and his son Moroni buries the plates in Hill Cumorah.

According to Mormon belief, Moroni appears to Joseph Smith fourteen hundred years later in 1827 and leads him to the plates of gold. Smith, a farm boy in the area, translated the gold plates and published the text as the Book of Mormon in 1830, and organized the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the same year.

Wednesday they took a field trip to the Kingston Point Beach. In the short distance tournament three of their four park winners won trophies and prizes. They were Earl Edmond, Ray Gay, and Debbie Timbrouck.

Block Park—On Wednesday morning the JV team had a softball game at Hutton Park. The team members are Quincy Bowers, Ronnie Burris, Jerry Smart, John Gues, Mike Sars, Babe Goloski, Dickie Burris, Ray Zehnick, Barry North and John Dawson. Jerry Smart was 5 for 5. John Gues had a triple and a double. Babe Goloski and Dickie Burris each had a triple and Babe Goloski was the winning pitcher. Block Park beat Hutton 8-3 with 22 hits. Thursday morning they went to the tournament at Hutton Park. Stephanie Brandt was the winner in the Junior Girls Division. In the afternoon Pat Tiano and Pat Haber took Quincy Bowers, Richard and Ronald Burris, Karen, Steve and Darren Sickler, Debbie Allen, Donnie and Kathy Vedder and Andy, Alfred and Beth Buzzanco to the Kingston Point Beach. Friday afternoon the Varsity team played at Hutton but lost 4-1. The children who remained at the park had arts and crafts with Kathy Fletcher making hats out of sponges.

Canadians' Reaction Mixed

OTTAWA (AP)—Canadian officials waited with some apprehension today for repercussions from the stormy visit of President Charles de Gaulle. But many were confident the episode would eventually blow over without serious consequences.

Concern was expressed that relations between France and Canada might be damaged by Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's rebuke to the French president for his public support of French Canadian separatism and De Gaulle's retaliatory flight home Wednesday from Montreal, skipping a visit to Ottawa and a meeting with Pearson.

There was also anxiety that De Gaulle's sounding of the "Long live free Quebec" cry might touch off new squalls in relations between the federal government and that restless province.

Pearson, who had termed De Gaulle's espousal of separatism "unacceptable" to the Canadians and their government, issued a terse statement expressing regret over the French leader's heavy exit.

"Gen. de Gaulle's decision to cut short his visit is understandable under the circumstances," Pearson said, "but those circumstances, which are not of the government's making, are greatly to be regretted."

Unabashed by the furor he had caused, De Gaulle administered a final slap to Ottawa as he was flying back to Paris. He radioed a message of thanks for a "magnificent reception" to Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec and addressed him as "his excellency."

The title is reserved for the governor general, Roland Michener, who had invited De Gaulle and other heads of state to visit Canada during the nation's centennial celebration.

Exploding Fluid Kills Woman, 58

ULYSSES, Pa. (AP) — An exploding can of cleaning fluid killed a 58-year-old woman Wednesday, left her husband critically burned and caused $3,000 fire damage to their home.

He also found her husband, Gerald, 67, burned on the hands, arms, shoulders and head. Empson was reported in critical condition at Cole Memorial Hospital, Coudersport.

Martin said the Empsons had been using the fluid to clean a living room floor.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The Rev. Thomas M. Morrin, 54, died unexpectedly early today at the home of a sister.

A native of Boston, Father Morrin was on the mission band of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate and was assigned to the Oblate House in Newburgh, N. Y.

Father Morrin was on vacation and staying at the home of his sister, Mrs. Winifred Keegan, when death came.

The Oblate priest graduated from Cathedral High School in Boston in 1921 where he starred in football, baseball and basketball. He attended Boston College for a year before entering the Oblate novitiate at Tewksbury, Mass., and was ordained in Washington, D.C., in 1939.

Besides Mrs. Keegan, Father Morrin leaves another sister, Mrs. Stanton O'Malley of Eliot, Maine.

Marks 118th Year
LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was a quiet birthday party by Tatum DuPea's standards.

Only seven years ago, when she turned 11, she went on a helicopter ride.

But the tiny Puente Indian's sight began to fail several years ago, and now she says, "I can hear, that's all."

The party for her 118th birthday Wednesday was given by the U.S. Social Security Administration which lists her as the oldest lady on its rolls.

High point in the proceedings came when she was asked the time-honored question about her secret for living so long.

Then Tatum DuPea, who recommended lean meat after turning 100 and at 101 pitched about suggested eating fried bananas for breakfast a few years back.

Or, perhaps she was simply exercising a woman's prerogative when she whispered: "The secret is drink the juice of pink beans. It don't taste bad."

Area Major Killed

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The Air Force has identified the two crewmen killed in the crash of an EB57 twin jet Tuesday as Maj. Fred E. Williams IV of Newburgh, N.Y., and Capt. Stephen Thornton of Miami, Fla.

State Man Picked Up in Arizona

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Grayden J. Scovill, 32, of South Colton, N.Y., was arrested by FBI agents near here Wednesday on a charge of flight to avoid prosecution in New York State.

Scovill has been charged by officials in St. Lawrence County with writing more than $3,000 in bad checks. FBI agents said Scovill operated a service station in South Colton, which is in St. Lawrence County.

In addition, an FBI agent in Plattsburgh, N.Y., said Scovill was charged with grand theft on Jan. 13, 1966 as a result of bogus checks.

The officers were identified Wednesday by authorities at the Alaska Air Command.

Williams, who was married, was the pilot of the reconnaissance bomber and Thornton, a bachelor, was its navigator.

The EB57 crashed and disintegrated during a landing attempt at Whitehorse, near here. It was in a flight of 13 planes enroute from Stewart Air Force Base at Newburgh to Eielson AFB near Fairbanks, Alaska, as part of an air defense exercise.

A spokesman at the air command base said an investigation into the cause of the crash was underway.

Check Area Fires

Port Ewen fire units extinguished a grass fire Wednesday and Wallkill firefighters were called out to quell a fire in a dump, according to records of the County Fire Control headquarters.

Partnership Formed

The law office of Abraham Streifer, Kingston attorney, announces the appointment of David M. Barnovitz as member of the firm, and the formation of a partnership under the name of Streifer & Barnovitz. The new firm will continue at the present location, 9 Main Street.

Abraham Streifer has been a practicing attorney in this city since his admission to the bar in 1934. A graduate of Kingston High School Class of 1927, he received his undergraduate education at Syracuse University, from which he graduated in 1931 with highest scholastic honors and membership in Phi Beta Kappa. He was then awarded a three-year scholarship at Columbia Law School, from which he graduated as Kent Scholar in 1934. Following graduation, he received appointment as faculty assistant at the Law School and worked with Professor Roswell Magill, then U. S. Undersecretary of the Treasury, in the publication of the book "Taxable Income."

Shortly following his return to Kingston, Streifer was named confidential law clerk to Justice Harry E. Schirick. This association continued until Judge Schirick's recent retirement from the bench.

Streifer has been prominent in civic and professional activities. He has served as president of the Ulster County Bar Association, and later as program chairman and director of such organization. He is affiliated with the American Bar Association, the New York State Bar Association, the Trial Lawyers' Association, and has been admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of the United States. He is a member of the Columbia University Club, New York City, and of the Wiltwyck Country Club. He was an organizer and for several years chairman of the Non-Partisan Nominating Committee for the selection of candidates for the Board of Education, and presently is a trustee of the Kingston Hospital. His past offices include president of the Kingston Jewish Community Center, of Bnai Brith and the Kingston Zionist District. For several years he served as chairman of the United Jewish Appeal.

In his practice, Streifer has specialized in trials and appeals, and has served as counsel for various attorneys of the area. In addition to his Kingston office, he is permanent counsel to the firm of Berger & Piluso of Ellenville.

He is married to the former Mary Lutsky, with whom he resides in Hurley. They have a daughter, Bonnie Temple, and a son, Richard, who attends New York University.

Barnovitz is an alumnus of the Kingston High School Class of 1954. He received his pre-legal training at Colgate University and graduated in the Class of 1958. His legal education was received at the New York University School of

DAVID M. BARNOVITZ

Law, Class of 1961, and was admitted to the Bar in 1961.

Following law school, Barnovitz served in the U.S. Army Reserve, from which he received his honorable discharge in 1965.

Barnovitz had been associated with the law office of Abraham Streifer until the formation of the new partnership.

He has been active in civic and philanthropic efforts, is secretary of Congregation Agudat Achim and chairman of general solicitation of the current United Jewish Appeal. Presently Barnovitz is the nominee of the Democratic Party for the office of District Attorney of Ulster County.

Barnovitz is married to the former Phyllis Robins and they reside with their son Michael at Rolling Meadows.

Aid in Riots

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—The New York State Police Identification and Intelligence System's confidential teletype network can assist local police in riot situations, says the system's director.

Robert R. Gallati made that statement Wednesday while explaining the system's function to the Convention of the New York State Association of Chiefs of Police.

"This system should be used for the checking of suspects and arrestees," Gallati said. "If it is indicated there are persons who have been arrested in the course of a disturbance and that they are residents elsewhere, notifications should be made to the chief of the other location," he said.

Surveyed Teenagers Say Flowers Appeal

The first investigation in depth of the attitudes of young people in regard to wearing fresh flowers was recently undertaken as a joint effort by three interested agencies, a florist's group, a teenage magazine and a fashion career school.

A group of fashion students were selected to carry out the survey. More than 425 questionnaires were sent out to teenagers from coast to coast, and the leading fashion editors and designers were interviewed.

The results of this survey are astonishing for a number of reasons," said a spokesman for the school. They dramatically show teenager acceptance of flowers as a part of fashion. At the same time, young people are demanding far more than a corsage—they want flowers to wear in their hair or on their wrist. And they want to wear daisies and geraniums and other blossoms not usually thought of in this way. Wearing flowers—even to school—could very well be the newest teenage fashion fad.

Teenagers reported that wearing of flowers appealed to them three to one, and the largest number reported wearing them for the first time when they were 14 years old. One teenager reported her first time as the day she was born. While three-quarters of those responding favored flowers, almost every sort of a holiday or event was named as a time for using flowers.

Beaux accounted for more than half of the senders, with 25 per cent of the teenagers reporting their parents as flower donors.

The largest number of teenagers favored wearing flowers in their hair, with flowers on the wrist coming in a close second. Other suggestions included in a buttonhole, on shoes, on hats, as earrings, on knees, as jewelry, on eyelashes, toes and ankles. Suits were named as the favorite costume for flowers.

When asked how the wearing of flowers made them feel, almost three-quarters of the teenagers reported "feminine." Others said flowers made them feel cheerful, happy, "groovy," thought-of, elegant, romantic, adult, loved and "dressed-up."

Doing the Right Thing

ADDRESS NOT GIVEN EXCEPT FOR GOOD REASON

Dear Mrs. Post: If A goes to B and requests the address or phone number of C, should the request be granted immediately? Or should B contact C and ask just what C wishes in the matter. If C had wanted A to have the information would not C have given same to A directly? Undoubtedly I am old fashioned in feeling that such information should be protected instead of being broadcast. I cannot help feeling a little annoyed when this happens to me.—Mrs. R. C.

Dear Mrs. R. C.: I don't think you're old fashioned—everyone has a right to privacy. Unless A gives B an excellent reason (and, to be sure, I can think of a number), B would show more wisdom to ask why A wanted the address before giving it. Were it so that A could send C an invitation, or some equally pleasant thing, B would certainly not be at fault for helping A out.

No Lady Yells Across the Room
Dear Mrs. Post: We fellows are divided on a problem and it's getting fairly heated. Please advise us if it is proper for wives to call their doctors, across a room, by their first names at social affairs. Some husbands think it is in very poor taste; others think it entirely proper.—Jim.

Dear Jim: If the wives know the doctors socially as well as professionally, I see no reason they shouldn't call them by their first names. However, they shouldn't yell across the room whether it's their doctor, their best friend, or their husband!

Wedding Guests Choose Their Own Costumes

Dear Mrs. Post: We have been invited to a "Black Tie" wedding by a very close friend of ours. My husband thinks it is terrible that these people are causing their guests to go through additional expense of purchasing, or renting, tuxedos. He feels that it is in poor taste, and my argument is that since they are giving the wedding, they have a right to specify how their guests should dress.—Mrs. P.

Dear Mrs. P.: I agree with your husband. It is in poor taste to put on wedding invitations the clothes the guests are expected to wear. At a formal evening wedding, it is assumed that men who have tuxedos will wear them, but it should not be obligatory.

"How to Plan and Budget Your Wedding" by Elizabeth L. Post, is available to readers of this paper. Ideal for brides-to-be, their fiancés and parents, this sixteen page booklet will help in preparing for the "perfect" wedding. To get a copy, send twenty-five cents in coin to cover booklet and shipping expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this paper.

Rondout Valley At Convocation

Lee Harrington, Rondout Valley High School director of instrumental music, and Mrs. Kathryn Cates, Kerhonkson School librarian, teamed up with District Superintendent of Schools Dr. Ted T. Grenda to represent the Rondout Valley Central School District at the Performing Arts Convocation in New York City recently. Co-sponsored by the New York State Department of Education and Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, the convocation, the largest cultural inservice education program ever sponsored in New York State, was designed to plan for the integration of the performing arts into the regular school curriculum. Timed to take full advantage of Lincoln Center's International Festival, the convocation was attended by teams from 200 school districts throughout the state.

The four days of the session were divided into morning and afternoon workshops. Morning sessions in the New York State Theater of Lincoln Center brought to the participants outstanding presentations and live demonstrations by educators and famous performing artists, as well as lectures and discussions. Afternoon meetings were more specialized: large groups met together, administrators, librarians, and performing arts coordinators and teachers, and regional team meetings were held.

Evenings brought the excitement of International Festival 67 performances. Participants attended the Hamburg Opera Company's presentation of Janacek's "Jenufa" in the Metropolitan Opera House. In the New York State Theater, the Music Theater of Lincoln Center, under Producing Director Richard Rodgers, staged "South Pacific." This held special interest for the Rondout Valley team, after this spring's highly successful faculty presentation of this celebrated musical. Two of the United States' most internationally-famous musicians provided another night's fare: Leonard Bernstein conducted the New York Philharmonic in Philharmonic Hall with pianist Van Cliburn as featured artist. The final performance for convocationers was the Lincoln Center Repertory Theater's world premiere presentation of Peter Ustinov's "The Unknown Soldier and His Wife" in the Vivian Beaumont Theater.

Convocation participants heard keynote addresses by Dr. William Schuman, president of Lincoln Center, and by Dr. Walter Crewson, associate commissioner of education. Free time was afforded each day for tours of the Lincoln Center complex. Members of the Rondout Valley team were enthusiastic, pronouncing the week "most rewarding—a really exciting introduction to what may be, in the truest sense, a Renaissance in our schools."

MRS. EDWARD L. CALVIN (Tak Isobe photo)

Former Kingston Resident Wed in Calif.

Word has been received here of the late June wedding of Miss Patricia Ann Seely, Gardena, Calif., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raber Smith Seely, 87 Clifton Avenue, Kingston, to Edward Lewis Calvin, Fullerton, Calif., son of Mrs. Ray Zimmerman, Lincoln, Neb.

The double ring ceremony was performed in Loving Shepherd Lutheran Church, Gardena, Calif. Traditional wedding selections were provided. Baskets of white flowers and candelabra with white candles decorated the altar. White bows marked the family pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a white peau de soie embroidered gown, fashioned with a round neck and long sleeves and featuring a detachable train. Four layers of white net fastened to a pearl headpiece. She carried white roses with a large white orchid accented with a yellow center.

Miss Sheila Zimmerman, step-sister of the bridegroom, Lincoln, Neb., was maid of honor. She wore a peach colored, empire-styled, floor-length gown, fashioned with a long length coat. She carried orange roses accented with orange ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Shirley MacDonald, Huntington Beach, Calif., and Mary Waldner, Gardena, Calif., roommate of the bride. Their gowns were styled identically to that of the maid of honor and they carried yellow spider lilies.

Luz Cortez, first grade pupil taught by the bride, was flower girl. She wore a gown styled similarly to the gowns of the other attendants with orange slippers to match her gown. She carried a flower basket of rose petals accented with long orange ribbon.

Robert Healey, Calif., was best man. Ushers were Patrick MacDonald, Huntington Beach, Calif., and Ted Fisher, Fullerton, Calif. Ismael Cordero, also a first grade pupil taught by the bride, was ringbearer.

A reception for 50 guests was held at Cockatoo Inn, Hawthorne, Calif. For her wedding trip to Hawaii, the bride chose a bright pink dress with orange stripes, white patent accessories and a white orchid.

The bride, a graduate of University of Nebraska where she earned her Bachelor of Science degree in education, taught school at Los Angeles for two years and will teach third grade at Fullerton in the fall. She is a member of National Education Association, California Teachers' Association and Los Angeles Teachers' Association.

Her husband, also a graduate of University of Nebraska, received Bachelor and Master of Science degrees in electrical engineering. He worked for two years at Aeronautics, Division of North American. He is a member of Sigma Tau, Pi Mu Epsilon, Eta Kappa Nu and International Electric Electronic Engineers.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin will reside at 1231 Evergreen Avenue, G-1, Fullerton, Calif.

Bennett College Appoints Deans

The appointment of Gene S. Cesari as dean of the college and of Barbara S. Hitchcock as dean of students was announced by President Donald A. Eldridge of Bennett College, Millbrook. Cesari began his duties last week. Mrs. Hitchcock arrives on campus this week.

Cesari comes to Bennett from Elmira College, Elmira, where he had been assistant professor of history since 1962 and assistant dean of the faculty since 1963. At Elmira he also served as director of the faculty associates program, director of the Spellman exchange program, editor of the college catalogue, and supervisor of the faculty advising program. He has taught also at the University of Pennsylvania, Clarkson College, and Adirondack Community College.

A graduate of Elmira Free Academy, Cesari was a student at Dartmouth College from 1948 to 1951, left to serve in the US Marine Corps and on completion of that service returned to Dartmouth with the class of 1955. Two years later he earned a master's degree in history from the University of Pennsylvania, from which he will soon receive his PhD, having completed work for that degree this summer.

Cesari is married and the father of two children. With his family he is living in the college-owned house called Ferda. This was the home of his predecessor as dean of Bennett, Dr. William D. Young, who is now dean of Atlantic Community College, Hamilton Township, N. J.

Mrs. Hitchcock, Bennett's new dean of students is also an historian. She has taught American, ancient, and modern history at the Madeira School, Greenway, Va., with which she has been associated since 1949. At Madeira, her other assignments included chairmanship of the faculty curriculum committee.

Prepared for college at Pelham Memorial High School, Pelham, Mrs. Hitchcock was graduated from Barnard College in 1943. She then saw war-time service as a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy, Women's Reserve (Waves), attached to the Naval Communications Center, Washington, D. C., and later as a personnel and educational services officer. She earned her Master's degree in history from George Washington University.

The new dean of students is the wife of Dr. Lawrence Hitchcock, classicist and linguist, who recently retired from U. S. government service. With their two children, they will live in The Fir, a college residence.

Mrs. Hitchcock succeeds Miss Dulcie L. Stevenson, who has accepted a position as associate dean of students of the New York State University College, Oswego.

It will cover the securities market, real estate market, and other methods of investing funds.

Management Refresher classes will supply concepts and techniques in the art of leadership, decision-making, interviewing, disciplinary action, handling complaints, and methods of communication for supervisory personnel such as foremen, office managers, supervisors, and sales managers. Engineering Techniques is planned for prospective students and others interested in engineering sciences, or electrical, mechanical or construction technologies. The class will provide a foundation in terminology, use of the slide rule, analytical approach to solution of problems, scientific notation and systems of units.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: I hear that your husband was in the military service for 24 years.

Won't you please give us some tips on moving? Many of us are not military and may not be transferred clear across the country, but we change homes and towns just the same. "Mover"

Well now, the first thing I always do is drag out my biggest suitcase a day or two ahead of time and drop everything into it that we use daily—brushes, soap, a box of facial tissue, change of underwear for the entire family, a towel or two, etc. And I always stick in instant coffee, a can of tuna fish, some crackers, and that all important can opener!

Next, I set aside one footlocker or strong carton I've gotten from the moving company to pack by myself and I label this one loud and clear.

Into this goes my skillet, a favorite pot or pan, a roll of aluminum foil (you'd be surprised what you can cook in that when you can't find anything else), butter knife, salt and pepper, a few cans of soup and some dish towels.

At least we can exist on these for awhile. And if you want to be a real perfectionist, buy some paper plates and cups. It might be days before you get settled down and these sure come in handy.

If this footlocker or carton won't fit in your car, be sure that it's the LAST thing that goes on the van. Remember, the last things in the truck are the first out.

Lots of movers allow you to leave your clothing in the dresser drawers, so I cover her contents of mine with bath towels. They keep your things from messing up, saves you a little in packing charges. Besides, you'll know where to get a towel in a hurry.

Another tip is to leave your fitted sheets on the mattresses. They not only help protect the mattress, but when you're tired and the children are crying and need a nap, you've got a place to sleep without rummaging through a jillion boxes for that bedding. I always tuck a top sheet and two pillowcases under the fitted sheet.

Thank goodness I'm not moving tomorrow. I've had enough of it.

If anyone has more ideas on "easy moving," do drop them along to us. We would love to hear from you. Just pick up that pen and write to us in care of this paper.

Dear Heloise: Did you know that corn plasters can be used on the bottom of chairs with small legs to keep them from marring those pretty hardwood floors?

Just stick them on. There's no mess, no glue.

Lee

I'm a little red hen if it doesn't work beautifully. Who would have ever thought it?

Heloise

Dear Heloise: When making jelly there is nothing quite like a piece of dry nylon net for removing hardened wax that has dropped on the outside of the glasses.

Louise Stortroen

Dear Heloise: Here's a suggestion for getting rid of your used razor blades the safe way.

Drop them into an empty glass jar. The kind that has a slide top, such as cinnamon and nutmeg cans.

When the can is full, just slide the top shut and drop the whole thing in your trash. Sure prevents cut fingers.

Bonnie Linden

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise: After reading in your column the letter from the harassed housewife who felt that housework was never finished, I had to share a saying with you that is a favorite in our family.

My great-grandmother used to say, "Good Lord, we fight dirt all our life and then we lie down and they bury us in it."

Another Mother

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

There's a fresh new feeling for Fall '67 in every fashion center of the world. Bright new interpretations of fabric and style highlight clothes aimed at today's young, active woman. Topping the list of fashion scoops are brighter plaids, bolder stripes, softer cords, swiny new ways with tweeds, culottes plus jackets, skirts and pants with the spare lines of the NOW look.

Shapes are new, too, whether in the longer, outer type jacket that ties in with sportswear coordinates, the shorter-than-lang-pants and longer-than-shorts pantsuit, or the "mini" with pantaloons peeking out from under the short hemlines in matching fabrics. Chain belts, the culotte shift and Bermuda shorts teamed with matching jackets have new fashion meaning. The traditional jumper remains popular with new emphasis on all types of pleats.

Plaids come through in bright flashes of orange and black or green and yellow... turn up as the skirt of a shifty jumper in the newly popular mini-kilt. The checkered look of Fall runs the whole length of sportswear in great combos of navy and gold, green and pink and just about anything else, and makes headlines in coats with optional belts and deep, deep pockets.

Corduroy comes to the fore, has gone wonderfully supple and no longer relegates itself to heavy outerwear alone. It's turning up in hip-hugger pants, skirts and the newest rage, the culotte shift. Rich fall corduroy colors can be teamed brightly with paisley shirts or subtly contrasting striped knit turtlenecks.

Traditional tweeds break their bonds in gay, light colors for fall; come in soft versions of green, gold or brick and wonderful tweed combos with plaid or herringbone patterns give the pants suit a great, new look.

If sportswear has never been so casual, the dressy evening styles have never been more elegant. Fabulous furs, ruffles and velvet, glittering jewelry, flaring caps, heavy brocade and opulent hats are unbelievably beautiful.

For every woman everywhere, Fall '67 spells a fashion fling.

FOUR FOR FALL and, whether skirts or pants, they all reach ankle length. Lacé collars and cuffs, ruffles, satin waistbands and polka dots are also much in evidence as modeled by four beauties from the Rome fashion stable of designer

Patrick de Baretzen, who poses with stately quartet following the showing of his autumn-winter collection in the Italian fashion hub. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

GOODBYE MINICOAT and farewell to short, short skirts is the new rallying cry in Italian fashion circles. This whiskey-colored daytime coat in heavy Shetland is part of the Autumn-Winter 1967-1968 collection shown in Rome last week by Valentino. Along with other fashion designers there, Valentino rebelled against the miniskirt and sent hemlines plummeting in the Rome high fashion collection showings for international buyers and the press. (UPI CABLEPHOTO)

A black and white fashion photograph featuring two models. The model on the left is wearing a tiger-stripe patterned coat and matching pants, holding a microphone. The model on the right is wearing a leopard-print patterned coat and matching pants. Both models are standing against a plain, light-colored background.

FUR TO SPARE, fur from neck to toe, fur everywhere is the fashion keynote for winter around the world. Thigh-length fur boots accent these furs by Chombert shown this week at the opening of the Paris winter fashion parade. The suit at left is made from Bengal tiger, while the one on the right is made of Kenya leopard. Spots and stripes enough to suit any feline's fury. (UPI CABLEPHOTO)

VERSATILE — With baseball season about to give way to football fever, the American designer Mia has used school colors to interpret a shirt dress for covering the campus or shopping around town. Orange, green and gold stripes band the body of the orange knit long-sleeved charmer that sports a turtle neck.

A black and white photograph of a woman in profile, facing left. She is wearing a hat with a bold, black and white geometric pattern, possibly a variation of a traditional Japanese pattern. The hat has a wide brim and a decorative band. She is also wearing a large, ornate earring that features a circular, sunburst-like design. The background is a textured, mottled gray.

OFF TO THE RACES and just about anywhere else milady would care to wear it goes this glamorized version of a jockey cap with elongated visor. Done in purple and white striped colour felt, it's the creation of Parisian Patou. Boucheron contributed the diamond and sapphire striped bowknot which secures the chin strap. It's already been acclaimed a real winner in the fashion homestretch. (UPI CABLEPHOTO)

A black and white fashion photograph featuring a woman in a dramatic pose. She wears a wide-brimmed hat and a dress with bold horizontal stripes. A large, crocodile-textured accessory, possibly a bag or a piece of jewelry, is draped over her left arm and shoulder. The woman is looking upwards and to the right. The background is a simple, light-colored wall.

FANCY FOOT COVERINGS — Fancy foot coverings will be paired with fancy leg coverings for the fall and winter, according to the National Footwear Institute. These turtle shoes from a leading collection are decorated with fake gold coins. These high-tongued walkers are paired with fishnet stockings worn over regular stockings or tights. (UPI Telephoto)

NO RICE PADDY WORKER of the past could have dreamed that her "cheongsan" would be the influence for this elegant, lit-skirted Chinese brocade cocktail dress. Modeled by an appropriately pigtailed Pamela Lovelock, the dress is from the winter collection of London fashion designer Mattli. (UPI PHOTO)

McHenry Rutherford Boatwright

Sun Shines Brightly on His Opera Career

By MARY CAMPBELL
NEW YORK (AP) — Modern opera usually sounds just that—modern, its atonality hurting ears attuned to "La Boheme." Despite its sound, however, modern opera usually is old-fashioned in subject matter.
For instance, the Metropolitan Opera gave two world premieres this past season, one about Cleopatra, the other the Greek Electra story as reset in New England by playwright Eugene O'Neill.
The Boston Opera premiered an opera about Moses, and the Washington Opera one about the 16th century Count Bemarzo.
But in Germany the Hamburg State Opera commissioned an opera for last season from New York-born Gunther Schuller and he went present-day all the way. He wrote modern serial music mixed with cool, antiseptic jazz and his own libretto, making his protagonist a Negro in the American South, and using Franz Kafka's plot of "The Trial."
They loved it in Hamburg at its world premiere last fall, bestowing 51 curtain calls. But at this summer's American premiere by the visiting Hamburg company, the boos were louder than the cheers. The San Francisco Opera will do the work titled "The Visitation," in the fall.
The music in Schuller's first opera sounded exciting to critics in Hamburg; amateurish to critics in New York. But weighing heavier than the music seemed to be how "The Visitation" came across as theater. It was obviously more effective in Hamburg.
In New York, where plays about Negro-white relationships abound and Kafka doesn't, "The Visitation" was viewed as an attempt to show race hatred, and it was derided as naive.
The New York audience laughed at unintended places, on hearing a too-obvious remark, and was not gripped by a Kafkaesque mood although events depicted were nightmarish.
White men suddenly threaten the Negro, Carter James, for no reason, follow him, chase him, harass him at his job, "try" him in a warehouse "court," then let him go. Like a man in shock trying to run on a treadmill, screaming but making no sound, he seeks help from a lawyer, a woman, a relative, a clergyman. He doesn't know why he is a victim; he doesn't know why nobody will help him. He is murdered by his tormentors.
The man singing Carter Jones is a tall gentle-looking American Negro bass-baritone, born in Tenille, Ga., on a Feb. 29. He was named McHenry Rutherford Boatwright.
Boatwright has a long list of singing credits, most of them concerts, never getting into the sun of fame and publicity until "The Visitation." The composer knew him from a "Porgy and Bess" recording with Leontyne Price and from a "Don Carle" performance in Zurich.

New President of National Women's Club Thinks Males Take an Alimony 'Beating'

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Mabel McClanahan is a trim, green-eyed, brown-haired businesswoman from Appleton, Wis., who believes that women have a long way to go to reach legal equality with men.
At the same time, she thinks men deserve a better break in divorce and alimony settlements.
That shows right there what a fair-minded woman is taking over the helm of the 178,000-member National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., at its annual convention this week.
Her organization "is working strongly for an equal-rights amendment to get equality for women," she says. "I don't think there can be a broad enough interpretation under the 14th Amendment."
"We women have to take a positive approach to show that we are capable of employment and of managing our own affairs," Mrs. McClanahan has been managing her own affairs for a good long time. A divorcee for 20 years, she brought up a son, who's now 29 and an airline pilot. He has been married six years and has yet to make her a grandmother, she says impatiently.

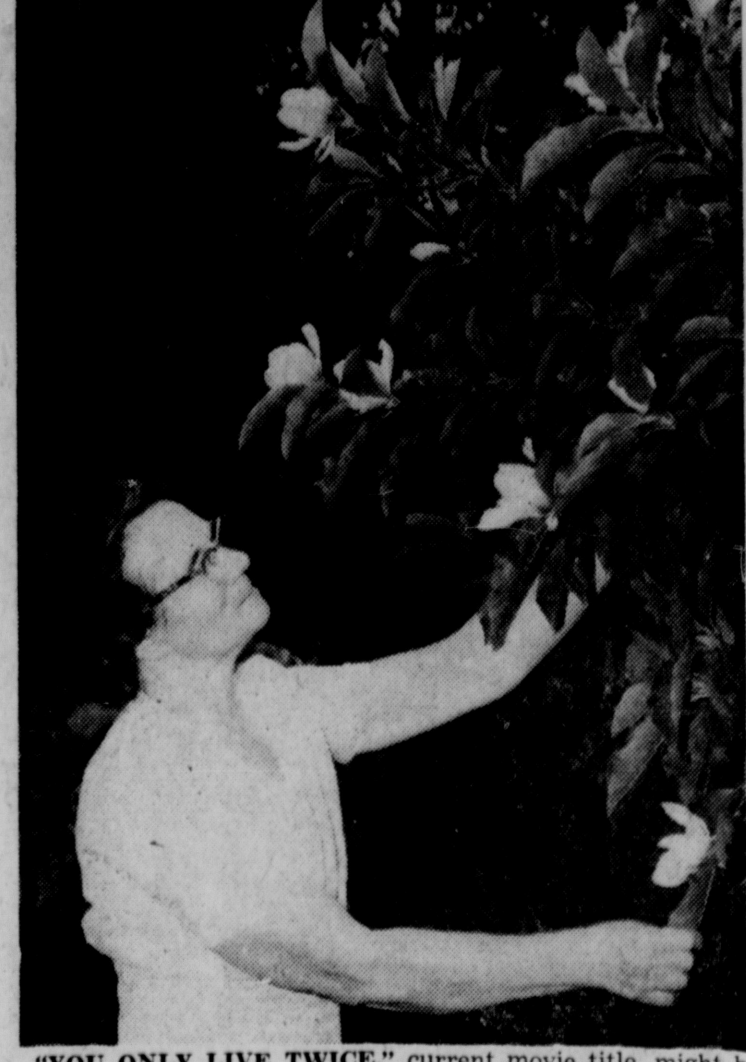

MANJUSRI CHAKI-SICAR, dancer-choreographer, will appear at the Little Theater-off-the-Green, Woodstock, on Saturday, Aug. 5, at 8:30 p. m., by invitation of Performing Arts of Woodstock. She gained fame as an outstanding performer and interpreter of the Tagore school of dancing; performed brilliantly as prima ballerina in all the principal cities of India; and appeared for four years on Nigerian television while arranging international cultural programs at the University of Nigeria. Following her debut in Munich, she came to this country and has performed locally in New Paltz, where she now resides. Reservations for Manjusri Chaki-Sicar's Woodstock appearance may be made by writing Performing Arts of Woodstock, Box 517, or calling Mrs. Ronald Blackman.

Canned Foods Make Camping Trip a Real Vacation

The real delight of a camping trip is its convenience for a completely mobile vacation. When you want to cover lots of ground and do a good deal of sightseeing, it's a relief not to have to concern yourself with advance reservations and dressing for dinner.
The easy casualness of camping extends to meal planning too. Happily for mother, today's marvelous selection of canned convenience foods are a great boon. They'll pack compactly into the trunk of the car, and be handy for the kind of mealtime variety and ease of preparation to which you're accustomed at home. (After all, this is mom's vacation, too). A small charcoal grill will be sufficient for heating canned products, grilling meats, frying bacon and making coffee.
Here are some outdoor ideas that are long on flavor and short on clean-up chores. (Double easy if you bring a good supply of paper cups and plates).
HASH 'N' EGG PATTIES
1 can (15 1/2 ounces) corned beef hash
3 eggs
Parmesan cheese
Cut hash into three slices. Lightly grease center of three pieces of double (12 x 11" each); place hash slice on each. Make an indentation in each slice with back of spoon; drop in egg. Tightly seal packets. Cook 4 inches from glowing coals until eggs have reached desired doneness. Garnish with Parmesan cheese. Serve in packets. Makes 3 servings.
TRAILBLAZER'S BEEF STEW
1 can (1 pound 3 ounces) beef stew
1 can (8 3/4 ounces) whole kernel corn, drained
1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives
1/2 to 1 teaspoon chili powder
In saucepan, combine all ingredients. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.
CAMPFIRE CHILI
1 can (15 1/2 ounces) chili con carne (with beans)
1 can (8 3/4 ounces) whole kernel corn
1 can (2 1/2 ounces) sliced mushrooms
In saucepan, combine all ingredients. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 2 servings.

"YOU ONLY LIVE TWICE," current movie title, might be applied to magnolia tree blooming for the second time within the season at 101 Bruhn Avenue, Kingston. The tree was a gift to Mrs. Bertha Ostrander from her daughter, Mrs. Theodore Murawa, Poughkeepsie, about 15 years ago on the occasion of Mother's Day. Mrs. Ostrander noticed the first bloom last Friday. However, she thought a "tissue" had blown into the tree. The following day when she noted "several tissues" in the tree, she went to investigate. Mrs. Ostrander said this was the first time the phenomenon had ever happened. On questioning Euron S. Davis, Burgevin's, he said the second blooming was "most unusual" and "probably due to the unusual weather conditions." (Freeman photo by Wagenföhr)

GM Earnings Dip, Sales Up

DETROIT (AP) — The giant General Motors Corp. reports a decline in earnings for the second quarter and the first half of 1967, compared with 1966.

Sales, however, were up for the second quarter, compared with the second quarter of 1966, in a report issued Wednesday.

Net income for the second quarter was $522 million, equal to $182 per share. This compares with $546 million, or $1.90 a share, for the second quarter last year.

Earnings for the six months equalled $902 million, or $3.18 a share, compared with $1.1 billion, or $3.90 a share, in 1966.

Sales for the second quarter, however, hit $5.6 billion, up from $5.5 billion for the first three months of last year. For the first six months of this year, they totaled $10.4 billion, down slightly from the $11.2 billion in the first six months of last year.

Killed in Crash

MADRID, N.Y. (AP) — James M. Lashomb, 42, of nearby Norfolk, was killed early Thursday when his automobile left Route 56A and crashed into an embankment near this St. Lawrence County community.

State Police said it took more than a half hour to free Lashomb from the wreckage of his vehicle.

Graham Backs Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I'm a convert," said Evangelist Billy Graham, to the nation's war on poverty. He told a meeting, including about 100 congressmen: "This is the first time in 17 years that I have come to Washington to speak for or against a government program... I have come to speak... in favor of the poverty program."

UR Agency

This would ease some of the agency's relocation problems. The agency is apparently cognizant of the mayor's plans for city hall downtown and has reserved a parcel of land in the Meadow Street to Hasbrouck Avenue area.

This area will encompass the East and the agency will accept offers from the small businessmen who provide the so-called necessities of life such as grocery stores, barber shops and laundromats. Former business from downtown will get first choice from the 27,000 square foot commercial development. It was emphasized that 70 per cent of that land was acquired and cleared.

Hemphill said that as of last night over 82 per cent of the 452 original parcels were acquired.

It was also disclosed at last night's meeting that Stanley Freeman, field representative for DHUD will be in Kingston Tuesday for an inspection of the Broadway East area.

KURA has requested from DHUD approval for demolition of 25 more buildings. Freeman's report will determine if the buildings will go and urban renewal in Kingston move into high gear again.

'Smokeless' Fridays

VIENNA (AP) — The Roman Catholic hierarchy in Austria has suggested that Austrians refrain from smoking on Fridays as an act of penance now that the old rule against meat on Friday has been removed.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to advance early Thursday in active trading.

General Motors climbed about 2 points, spearheading a fair advance by the industrials.

In the over-all list gains outnumbered losses by about 2 to 1.

Higher prices glamor stocks continued to rebound from recent selling. Texas Gulf Sulphur and Xerox rose 4 and Polaroid 3.

United Airlines, up 3, paced a resurgent airline group.

McDonnell Douglas, up nearly 2, continued to respond to a jet plane order, as did Boeing, up about 1½.

Scientific Data rose about 4 in brisk trading.

Gains of a point or so were made by Control Data, Stokely Van Camp, American Smelting, M-G-M and U.S. Smelting.

Early blocks included: American Photocopy, up ¼ at 10½; 12,800 shares; McDonnell Douglas, up ¼ at 55½ on 10-500; Chrysler, up ¼ at 48½ on 5-200; Standard Oil (New Jersey), unchanged at 64½; and Union Carbide, up ¼ at 53.

The inflationary atmosphere was warmed up by the fifth straight monthly rise in the cost of living. Climbing food costs had already aroused concern even before the Labor Department issued its statistics.

This gave further basis for purchase of stock as an inflationary hedge but, at the same time, it underlined the factor of rising costs which have cut corporate profits.

Soliton Devices gained nearly 2 points, Zapata Off-Shore more than a point.

Quotations by Wood, Walker & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 62 Wall Street, New York City; branch office, 52 Main Street, Lowell, S. Brooks, manager.

Boy, 4, Hurt In Fall From Moving Vehicle

A four-year-old Eddyville boy sustained stomach and back injuries Wednesday afternoon when he fell from his family car, Kingston City Police reported today.

The boy, John Gerald Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gerald, Church Hill, Eddyville, was treated at Kingston Hospital and released.

According to police, the accident occurred at 3:54 p. m. while the car was traveling along Wilbur Avenue. Police noted the child caught his pants on the door handle, tried to free himself and fell to the road.

His injuries were listed as stomach and back abrasions, police concluded.

Find New Excuse

SEATTLE (AP) — An economy move on the part of county commissioners may have provided Seattleites with a reason for being excused from jury duty—claustrophobia.

The commissioners have approved a plan to brick up the windows in the courthouse to save $7,200 a year in maintenance costs.

Superior Court Judge Lloyd Shore said Wednesday, "I certainly would feel that a juror's being subject to claustrophobia would be grounds for excusing him from service in a wall-in courtroom."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING....

Principal Safe

But Value May Erode

Q) "For retired people, would you recommend anything other than savings and loans paying 5-5½ per cent? No risk can be involved as capital is our protection against old age. Many stocks yield 5½ per cent but what is to prevent these stocks from declining below their purchase price. All shares fluctuate, sometimes widely. I think you should realize, though, that they can also sell up in price and that in some situations—such as utilities—dividend payments are trending steadily higher.

What you don't appreciate, I think, is that there are certain risks in fixed-income investments that have nothing to do with safety of principal. There is mainly the danger, that the real value of savings may be now on the move again. If I were you, I would balance the risks to some extent. I would place half my funds in savings institutions and half in such stocks as Duquesne Light which yields 5½ per cent and has lifted its dividend rate in nine consecutive years.

Q) "I am in the 53 per cent income tax bracket and have a substantial stock list, savings and insurance. I am considering tax-exempt municipals for an investment of $25,000. Would you make recommendations?" K.M.

A) The yield on tax-exempt municipals has been rising and is again at relatively attractive levels. An investment of $25,000 would provide a backlog for your stock list and afford a high taxable equivalent return. I suggest San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit Dist. 420s of 1996 at par, rated AA, taxable equivalent yield 8.94 per cent. Also, Dallas Independent School District 3.80s of 1981 at par, rated AA, taxable equivalent yield 8.09 per cent. I like also New Britain, Conn., 3.85s of 1987, offered to yield 3.95 per cent rated AA, taxable equivalent return 8.40 per cent.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Drowned at Hunter In Canoe Mishap

A 54-year-old Flushing man accidentally drowned Wednesday night when he apparently fell into Onteora Park Lake, Town of Hunter, while attempting to launch a canoe, according to Leeds State Police.

Troopers identified the victim as George VanderDoe, of 14755 Jasmine Avenue, Flushing, who was visiting at the Onteora Park Club with his daughter, Ann, 18.

Greene County Coroner Henry Millsaugh gave a verdict of accidental death due to asphyxia from drowning. The coroner's physician was Dr. Warren Parmelee of Jewett. The club is owned by the Onteora Lake Club of Tannersville, authorities said.

According to investigators, VanderDoe's daughter went to the club to make a telephone call. Her father said he was going to the lake to take a ride in a canoe. Troopers said he apparently fell into the lake as he attempted to launch the canoe.

The drowning occurred at 9 damage.

p. m. yesterday. The body was recovered at 6:15 a. m. today by a nephew of the victim, Peter VanderDoe, a member of the club.

Coal Yard Fire In Cohoes Routs 50 From Homes

COHOES, N.Y. (AP) — More than 50 persons were forced to evacuate their homes early today when a general alarm fire swept through an abandoned coal yard in this city north of Albany.

There were no injuries reported.

Firemen said the blaze raged out of control for more than an hour as huge wooden coal pockets, about two stories high and coated with coal dust, went up "like tinder."

The cause of the fire was undetermined.

There was no estimate of damage.

'Save Perrine' Closer

The restoration and preservation of Perrine's Bridge over the Wallkill River on Route 213 has moved closer to reality as the Perrine's Bridge Committee, Inc., received word through Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson that the New York State Historic Trust may act favorably on the Committee's application to have the bridge designated a State Historical Park.

The Historic Trust has requested that an effort be made by the committee to have the State Thruway Authority establish a rest area in the vicinity of the historic bridge. The Committee and Assemblyman Wilson have asked Chairman Bixby of the Thruway Authority to consider establishment of a rest area near the bridge and the Ulster County Board of Supervisors has adopted a resolution favoring the establishment of such a rest area.

Directors of the Perrine's Bridge Committee met Tuesday at the Kingston Savings Bank to complete plans for raising $45,000 to save the unique span. The committee hopes that the public will respond generously in support of this effort and points that contributions may be sent to Perrine's Bridge Committee, Inc., Box 131, Rifton, New York 12471. Already canisters showing a picture of the bridge and prepared, as their contribution, by Scouts of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, have been distributed throughout the county as one form of appeal for funds for this worthwhile project. The committee is comprised of a number of civic-minded residents, including town, county and state officials of this area, and through their combined efforts much progress has been made toward success in this project. The committee has been active over the past months in doing the ground-work necessary to incorporate and tax exemption for contributions.

Now duly incorporated under the laws of the state, the committee has been granted tax exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service. As a result of this action, contributions to the Perrine's Bridge Committee are tax deductible. Perrine's Bridge is the oldest covered bridge in the state.

It was built in 1850, of the Burr arch design, and is the only existing span of its type in the state. Its designer, Theodore Burr, was a resident of upper New York State and his design has been used in the building of many well known structures.

An outstanding example of the Burr arch is the Hell Gate Bridge over the East River in New York City.

Within a distance of 300 yards, crossing the Wallkill River, it is possible to view the progress of structural engineering for the past 117 years. First may be seen the Route 32 girder type bridge, next the ultra modern Thruway overpass and finally Perrine's covered bridge, a magnificent memento of a past era.

County Planners Hear Water Data

Progress on water and sewer studies as well as plans for schools and conferences were reported at the recent meeting of the Ulster County Planning Board.

The county water study being prepared by Brinnier and Larios, consulting engineers, is 50 per cent complete to date. Ray Cruthers, chairman of the service committee reported that considerable effort has been given to ground water exploration over the summer months. Efforts also have been made to work closely with other cities and counties to coordinate long range water needs in the Hudson Valley. Several meetings have been held with officials from New York City, Westchester, Dutchess, Orange and Putnam Counties to insure effective coordination.

The county sewerage study is expected to be started in August by Manganaro, Martin and Lincoln, consulting engineers. Work scheduled calls for a comprehensive report in 12 months.

Survey will start with New Paltz Village and New York State University there. Successive studies will be made as follows:

Kingston City, Towns of Ulster and Esopus and Whittier; Saugerties Town and Village; Highland; Walkkill; Towns of Woodstock, Rosendale and Marlboro; balance of county area.

Interim reports will be given to evaluate local studies and fit them into the area-wide program where possible. The interim reports are required by areas to qualify eventually for various aid programs.

Schools to aid local planning board officials are being organized through the efforts of Richard Ehler, county planning director and the State Office of Planning Coordination. The county board is hopeful the school will help educate new planning boards as well as existing boards, thus strengthening local planning efforts in the county.

Ehler noted that one of the goals of the county planning board is to strengthen local efforts as the responsibility for land use controls rests with local planning boards and legislators. However, effective county planning requires the development of sound land use controls as the basis for planning area wide improvements. While all but two towns in the county have planning boards to date, this is only the first step. At present only seven municipalities in Ulster County have zoning regulations.

A Conference on Natural Beauty is planned Sept. 23 at New Paltz as a follow-up to last year's meeting. Detailed information will be announced in the near future. Interested county residents who did not attend the first meeting but wish to attend this one may send their name and address to Ulster County Planning Board, PO Box 483, Uptown, Kingston.

Guest speakers at the meeting were Howard Quinn, district director of the Metropolitan New York District Office of Planning Coordination and Roger Darby, consultant to the district office.

Much Work Ahead

Pontiff Tired But Satisfied

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Back from what he depicted as a wearying but satisfying journey to Turkey, Pope Paul VI settled today into his summer vacation routine of rest and study.

The Pope was driven directly to his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo, south of Rome, after debarking from the jetliner that brought him home from Turkey Wednesday night.

"We are a little tired," the 69-year-old pontiff told a crowd of greeters at Castel Gandolfo only a few hours after he trudged around the ancient Christian ruins of Ephesus, Turkey, in willing 100-degree heat.

"Moments of Rest" The Pope said he would take "a few moments of rest," then "turn to the much, much, much work" still ahead of him.

He is expected to remain at his cool retreat five or six weeks. During that period he will finish preparation of a forthcoming document on reorganization of the Curia and of plans for the historic worldwide synod of Roman Catholic bishops to be held in Rome starting Sept. 29.

Also still before the Pope is the issue of birth control, the principal topic of study during his summer vacation last year. He has long postponed any declaration on whether the church will lift its anticontraception rule.

It was not excluded that the Pope might spend some of his vacation time contemplating a possible new trip.

Returning on the Pope's jet from Turkey, Vatican aides commented on the pontiff's fifth journey abroad and said that he could be expected in the future to travel "just as often as he has in the past."

Looking back on the two-day Turkish trip, the Pope told the Castel Gandolfo crowd that God had blessed his meetings with officials of that Moslem nation and with Orthodox religious leaders, including Patriarch Athenagoras.

Predicting greater Christian unity advances, the Pope said the Orthodox leaders "showed themselves truly to be of such goodness and greatness of spirit as to let us foresee many other good things."

The Pope and Athenagoras both vowed to make personal sacrifices in setting an example for the flocks of their "sister churches," separated nine centuries ago by the great schism.

The sources said Turkish government officials at least listened sympathetically to Pope Paul's plea that they mediate between Israelis and Arabs in the Middle East crisis.

Pope Paul ended his Turkish stay with the visit to the coastal city of Ephesus, site of the Ecumenical Council which in 431 sanctioned the dogma of the Virgin Mary as mother of God.

Resnick Asks Commission Probe Racial Disorders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick has called on President Johnson to appoint a commission to investigate the causes and effects of racial disturbances that are occurring in this country.

The Democrat from Ellenville, N.Y., issued that call Wednesday, even though he noted proposals already have been made for congressional committees to study the riots.

In his statement, Resnick said "we should devote our best talent and minds to the solution of this problem, and they should report to the highest authority in the land."

"The time has come," Resnick asserted, "to take a hard, sober, cool intensely analytical look at the problem."

Turkey Quake Kills 40 Near Disaster of 1939

ANKARA (AP) — Another violent earthquake struck Turkey Wednesday night in an area where 23,000 persons were killed in 1939 in one of history's most disastrous quakes. The government radio said by noon today the known death toll had reached 70, but many villages had not been heard from.

The quake occurred in eastern Turkey, south of the city of Erzurum, Erzurum was the site of the disastrous quake of Dec. 27, 1939.

The quake Wednesday night was Turkey's second such disaster in six days. On Saturday in western Turkey nearly 100 persons were killed at Adapazari. The Pulmur region was reported hardest hit by the latest quake, with only 7 out of the 70 villages able to communicate with the provincial authorities.

Medical Aid Offered Hurt Viet Children

BY JEAN HELLER
NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. government has offered free air transportation to this country for war-injured South Vietnamese children needing specialized medical treatment available in the United States.

Two members of the Committee of Responsibility, an organization of American physicians, told The Associated Press that William Bundy, assistant secretary of state for the Far East, made the offer in a letter to the group earlier this month.

"We approached him earlier this year on the matter," said Dr. Herbert Needleman, a Philadelphia physician. "In early July we got a letter that said the State Department was prepared to offer air evacuation for the children if the South Vietnamese government approves."

Needleman and Dr. Frank Ervin of Boston, left New York for Saigon Wednesday afternoon to get that approval.

"We're going with an open mind about the problem," Needleman said. "We expect that the children will be released to us. You might say we're cautiously optimistic."

The program would start with four children already chosen for evacuation. They range in age from 10 to 14 and have injuries too severe or of a nature that cannot be dealt with in Vietnam.

Two require facial plastic surgery, one had a groin injury and the fourth was severely burned on his face and neck by napalm, the doctors said. The committee has estimated that 30,000 South Vietnamese children will be injured in the war this year by one side or the other. A third of those children never will reach the medical facilities of the South Vietnamese Ministry of Health, the doctors said.

Of those who do receive help, only about 200 meet the evacuation program's criteria—that they are too severely hurt to be treated in their homeland or that they have injuries for which cures are not available.

Needleman and Ervin said one of their first meetings in Saigon would be with Dr. Tran Lu-Y, minister of health, but that a final decision on the program might come from higher sources in the government.

854th IN TRAINING—Lt. General Charles Rich, chief of Reserve Components (right), inspects the field maneuvers of the 854th Engineer Battalion with Major Peter T. Sowa of Wallkill, battalion commander of the Kingston group, during training procedures at Camp Drum near Watertown. The unit is slated to return to the area Saturday afternoon.

Torment to Executives

Staff Conferences

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Every society has its rituals, and in the modern business office no ritual is more sacred than the staff conference.

Theoretically, a conference is held to solve problems or to consider new proposals to advance the firm. In fact, the conference at best is a way to pass the time between the morning coffee break and lunch; at its worst it serves as a torture session which enables the boss to torment his executives.

Hopefulness
All conferences start in dramatic hopefulness. On the huge table before each seat is a shiny new memo pad and half a dozen freshly sharpened pencils.

The executives enter and greet each other as warily as professional boxers going into the ring. Who knows which will be carried hors de combat before the meeting is over?

If you have ever attended one of these office brain-drain sessions, you will find the following characters familiar:
The Eager Beaver—Inexperienced in office-jungle wiles, the junior executives leaps at the invitation of the boss to advance some new suggestions. He has half a dozen ready. But as he floats them up like toy balloons, the older executives sadiistically shoot them down as if they were wielding elephant guns. In 15 minutes the junior executive ages 5 years.

The Treasurer — No matter what is suggested, he objects. "That'll cost too much." If he had his way, they'd throw out typewriters and go back to goose-quill pens because goose-quill pens are less expensive. The doodler—He apr irts to be busy scribbling down notes on what the other executives say. What he is actually doing, however, is drawing pictures of glamorous girls—and adding long beards to their faces.

Has Secretary Call
The Fugitive—By prearranged plan, he has his secretary enter and announce, "Detroit's on the phone, sir. It sounds important." He makes his escape and doesn't return until he is sure the conference is about ready to break up.

The Neanderthal Man—The senior vice president has been with the organization since the days when businessmen wore tall beaver hats. To each proposed change he has the same rebuttal: "We tried that in 1909, and it didn't work. We tried it also in 1917 and 1929 and 1935 and 1953, and it didn't work. So why try it again now?"

The Cheerleader—Never having had an idea of his own, he tries to lighten the mood by telling a few jokes all have heard before. The other executives have a feeling that before long this guy's white brick ranch house in the suburbs will have a "for sale" sign on it.

Mr. Big Himself—After a dreary hour of fruitless hemming, hawing and buck passing, the boss says, "Well, it doesn't look like we're getting very far today. Same place, same time tomorrow. Maybe by then one of you zipperheads will be able to come up with something more constructive than excuses."

That's the only sure thing about office staff conferences: As in drinking, one just leads to another. They're habit forming.

Barrington Fair Set Sept. 10-16

Barrington Fair will this year celebrate its 127th annual and consecutive fair and the 115th on the present fairgrounds located in the foothills of the South Berkshire Mountains. It will run Sept. 10-16.

Premiums in the agricultural and livestock divisions will top $18,000 and will again be one of the highest premium totals in the long history of the show which boasts not only one of the oldest fairs in America but an unchallenged record of being the oldest cattle show in the country.

Guaranteed Prizes
The fair association guarantees a large part of the premium cash awards and the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture allocates a considerable amount from the Agricultural Purpose Fund. This fund was established in 1947 by the Massachusetts Legislature as a means of maintaining and stimulating interest in agricultural pursuits statewide. Under the terms of the fund, a portion of the money received by the Commonwealth from pari-mutuel racing at fairs is re-invested to insure the continuance and growth of the state farm programs.
Some 138 Massachusetts fairs, large and small, are helped through the fund. Since its inauguration in 1947 Barrington Fair Association has paid hundreds of thousands of dollars into the special state agricultural fund.

Last year Barrington Fair set a new record for both entries and exhibitors at the local fair. The new figures in the record book show a total of 1,993 entrants and 7,643 exhibits at the 1966 event.

Many Contest Areas
This year the youth division will have 11 departments, 36 group sections and 356 classes. The adult division will have 20 departments, 48 group sections and 546 classes. Competitive departments include cattle, sheep, canned goods, flowers, vegetables, club exhibits, judging contests, foods, home sewing, arts and crafts, Christmas trees, seeds, baked hay, maple sugar, farm produce, farm displays, fruits, grange exhibits, hand knitting, crocheted work, home furnishings, etc.

The 44 page new premium books for all classes at the fair are now available at the fairgrounds office in Great Barrington. Offices are open daily Monday through Friday.

United Nations stamps are honored only on mail deposited in the United Nations building.

One Delegate's Viewpoint

A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION REPORT

by
S. James Matthews

A proposition has been sent to the floor of the Constitutional Convention which would create a Department of Criminal Justice. Governor Rockefeller, in his reelection campaign last fall, called for such an agency. In recent months, the junior senator from New York, Robert F. Kennedy, has also expressed support.

The need for such a new department is found in the rapid growing rate of crime. Local police units are finding it increasingly difficult because of the confinement of their geographic boundaries to cope with the problem. Crime has become big business. Organized underworld elements are no longer using strong arm tactics so prevalent during the bootlegging era, but are now utilizing modern electronic equipment, brainpower and organizational structure that would bring pride to many a corporate executive.

Law enforcement officers are in need of technical assistance in the electronic field and in the laboratory. The problem of one police force is in many instances, the difficulty of yet another.

While there has always been cooperation between law units, up until this time, there has been no concerted effort to synthesize these activities on a day to day basis. A coordinating unit seems almost mandatory if there is to be any substantial progress in the war on crime.

All municipalities of the state are faced with budgetary problems of the first magnitude. Even though they are also confronted with the citizens' concern about rising crimes, most communities are not able to provide, within the present tax structure, all of the desirable technical equipment needed. Neither are they able to afford the cost of trained manpower for the scientific portions of their operation.

The effect of these dilemmas is often a police force of proven ability trying to accomplish their tasks with old-fashioned methods. The criticism should not be at the law enforcement departments, but at the citizen.

We should learn to put first things first. The full blessings of liberty mean very little to those who have their tangible gains stolen, or who witness it being ransacked by mobs. Nor do they, to the man who is killed by the reckless driver or the gun happy young punk.

The proposed new department of Criminal Justice seeks to make the job of the law officer, here at home, a more effective one. It is not a super force of a police state. To my knowledge, no one has levied such a charge.

The proposition brought to the floor of the Convention would give the new agency supervision over all the district attorneys of the state. This I oppose.

I know of no instance in our state in many years, where the D.A. has neglected the duties of his office. If he does, then the people have the power to remove him at the polls. The governor also has the power of relieving him at any time.

The concept of an appointed department commissioner controlling the actions of an elected official, as would occur in this instance, is difficult to justify. The results of what might happen should under-world domination find its way to that department head, is too terrifying to imagine.

No one good reason can be advanced for the adoption of this control over District Attorneys. As we hear so often at the Convention, the burden of proof is on those espousing the change.

Innovation is desirable, it is necessary. Change for the sake of change is foolhardy.

Warns of Quackery

Quackery, which has its roots in ancient history, will in all probability continue far into and beyond the space age, it was suggested today by Dr. Harri N. Janssen, newly elected president of the Ulster County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Janssen said that scientific advances which have raised general levels of public understanding unfortunately have failed to eliminate gullibility in man.

"There was a time when the hind leg of a toad or tooth of a witch might have been all that was needed to impart allegedly special powers to a fake cure for disease," he said.

"Today, imitation electronics and phony chemicals have taken their place, and it's probably only a matter of time before someone will introduce a magic cure-all from outer space. When it comes — no matter how preposterous it might be — there will be people who'll willingly believe."

Dr. Janssen pointed out that in spite of alleged cancer "cures," many innocent people still are victimized by cancer quacks.

Surgery and radiation still are the only known methods for successful treatment of cancer, Dr. Janssen said.

Suspension Upheld

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — A State Police administrative board has upheld the suspension of a state policeman accused of leaving the scene of an accident in which an airman was injured.

The board's action Wednesday upheld the penalty imposed on Frederick H. Yeackel last week. Yeackel, 37, of Saratoga Springs, was suspended without pay for 60 days and placed on probation for six months.

State Police investigators had accused Yeackel with involvement in an accident July 3 in which a 20-year-old airman from the Saratoga Air Base was injured when struck by a car.

Sentences Given In County Court

A 27-year-old Ellenville man, who pleaded guilty to second degree assault arising out of an incident at Wayside Inn, Ellenville, last Nov. 24, was sentenced to a five year term at Elmira Reformatory Wednesday when he appeared before County Judge Raymond J. Mino for sentence.

John Gregory III, Ellenville, was represented by William C. Mullany. Gregory was indicted for robbery, assault and petit larceny for holding up an employee at the Inn. Gregory was arrested at Newburgh and returned to Ulster County shortly after the robbery when he surrendered to police officials at Newburgh. He allegedly had been drinking at the time in Ellenville, his counsel told the court.

Anthony Fiordilino, 23, New Paltz, who was found guilty of sale and possession of a narcotic drug, was sentenced to a term of 7 to 10 years at hard labor in Clinton Prison. Benjamin Glass appeared for defendant. Judge Mino, imposing sentence, noted that while the defendant was out on bail he had "become involved" in another narcotic drug affair.

Receives Benefit

Ted Eugene Kennedy, 42, of Ellenville, who pleaded guilty to attempted unauthorized use of a motor vehicle as a felony, received some benefit of a law which will not go into effect until Sept. 1. At that time attempted unauthorized use of a motor vehicle will become a misdemeanor. Judge Mino in imposing sentence, said he would give the defendant some benefit of the reduction under the new law and imposed a one year jail sentence. Bernard A. Feeney Jr. appeared for defendant.

Several cases in which a presentence report had not been received from the Probation Department, Judge Mino adjourned to Sept. 5 at 2 p. m. when the September term of County Court will be convened.

In the case of Acie Lee Rudd, charged with second degree assault, two counts, an application was made for a "Huntley" hearing to determine the admissibility of evidence. Joseph Saccoman appeared for Rudd. Judge Mino granted the application for the hearing which will be scheduled later.

Other Cases

In the case of Dennis Gregg Martin, 18, New Paltz, Judge Mino granted a motion for treatment under the Youthful Offender statute on application of defense counsel John J. Lynch.

An indictment charging Larry Warren Speedling, 23, Newburgh, with third degree burglary was dismissed on motion of Assistant District Attorney Philip W. Schunk.

Donald P. Ross, who had been indicted for forgery but entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny, had his case put over to Sept. 13 at 11 a. m. when no presentence report was available. Sherwood E. Davis appeared for Ross.

Four defendants against whom indictments were recently returned by the April Grand jury entered pleas of not guilty and the cases were put over to the September term. They are: Samuel Winder, feloniously selling a narcotic drug; feloniously possessing a narcotic drug with intent to sell and feloniously possessing a narcotic drug. Remanded.

Clifford Alfred Vandergriff, criminally possessing loaded firearm as a felony. William Gruner appeared for defendant. Remanded.

Daniel F. Van Leuven, possession of a dangerous weapon. William C. Mullany appeared for defendant. Remanded.

Leonard Sanders, 22, Pompton Lakes, N. J., third degree burglary, unlawful entry and first degree grand larceny, for the alleged entrance to a Shawangunk school last March 11. Marshall Lipton appeared for defendant. Remanded to jail.

Barbados Island, in the West Indies, was the only foreign country ever visited by George Washington.

Miron Makes Known $1,000 Scholarship

Awarding of an annual $1,000 scholarship to be presented to the outstanding senior male athlete-student in Ulster County, has been made known by Julie Miron, president of Miron Building Products Co. Inc.

The scholarship, to be inaugurated in June, 1968, is open to senior students in Kingston, Saugerties, Wallkill, Marlboro, Rondout Valley, Highland, New Paltz, Ellenville, Ontario and John A. Coleman High Schools.

"We are starting this scholarship because we feel boys who excel in athletics and are still able to obtain good grades in school will have an even bigger incentive to shoot for," Miron said.

Selection Committee

A committee of three has been selected to make a decision on the winner. Serving on this committee are Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor; Ed Palladino, Freeman sports writer and Joseph W. Robertson, vice president, Kingston Trust Co.

The student selected for the annual award must attend a four year college.

Miron emphasized the award will not be based solely on athletic ability but on a combination of athletic prowess and scholastic achievements.

Letters have been sent to superintendents of schools of the districts involved and they will submit candidates to the committee near the end of the school year.

Spears Advances In State Amateur

Ricky Spears of Port Jervis advanced to the third round of the annual New York State Golf Assn. amateur championship Wednesday at Nassau Country Club, defeating Ed Walosak, Saratoga Springs, 2 and 1, in the second round.

Nick Raasch, defending titleholder, will not repeat as champion. He was beaten, 3 and 1, by John Baldwin, Port Washington, in the most startling upset of the day.

Spears, a 20-year-old junior at the University of Florida and a former metropolitan junior and Florida intercollegiate champion, was scheduled to meet Billy Edwards of West Hempstead, one of Long Island's better golfers, in today's third round.

Other area golfers advancing to the third round were John Pretak, Poughkeepsie, who scored a 4 and 3 win over George Bukaty, Lackawanna; Heinz Mews, Wappingers Falls, who beat Jack McCabe, Syracuse, 1-up; and Fred Woerner, Port Jervis, who beat George Grady, Tonawanda, 1-up.

Joseph Smith Jr. of Newburgh lost, 1-up, to Herb Bokik, Twin Ponds, and Henry Spears, Port Jervis, was beaten 4 and 3 by Dr. Edward O'Keefe of Schenectady.

Baldwin, who led all the way in upsetting Raasch, was slated to meet Bernie Cowey, Rochester, in today's third round.

Other top third round matches at the 6,544-yard par-70 Glen Cove layout will find Bill Tryon, Elmira, who won the state title in 1962 and 1965, going against Wink Jamieson of Syracuse; metropolitan champion Jim Fisher of New Rochelle meeting Charlie Murphy of Albany.

Two rounds will be played today and on Friday with a 36-hole final scheduled for Saturday.

300 Athletes Will Compete In Big Event

More than 300 young athletes from all parts of the Empire State will converge on Kingston Friday and Saturday as they compete in the annual New York State Sports Spectacular program.

A highlight of the Jaycee sports program, the Spectacular will consist of the state golf playoff, state tennis tournament and finals in track and field.

For the second straight year the tournament is being sponsored in Kingston by Jaycees of Coxsackie, Hudson, Kingston, New Paltz, Saugerties and Woodstock. The public is invited to attend events on both days.

Golf Finals Saturday

The golf tournament, conducted by the Woodstock Jaycees, will begin Friday, 6:30 a. m. at the Wiltwyck Country Club. The contestants will play two rounds, at which time the field will be cut to 50 players. The 18-hole championship match will be played at Wiltwyck on Saturday.

Kingston will host the tennis preliminaries at Forsyth Park at 8 a. m. on Friday and the finals at the same site on the following day.

The gigantic track and field meet, hosted by the Saugerties Jaycees, will be held Saturday at Dietz Stadium with preliminaries getting underway at 10 a. m. Nine track and six field events are on the agenda.

In addition to the golf, tennis and track, contestants will be feted at a buffet Friday and a banquet Saturday at the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Bob Mitchell, outstanding halfback for Vermont of the Yankee Conference, will be guest speaker at the Friday buffet.

Saturday's banquet, at which trophies will be awarded to individuals excelling in the two-day tournament, will be featured by the appearance of Gene Sarazen as guest speaker. The Germantown Squire is one of the all-time great golfers and holds championships in all the major tournaments.

In support of the two-day program, Kingston Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan has designated this week as State Sports Spectacular Week in the city.

George Leombruno, general chairman of the spectacular, said this year's event is expected to be even more successful than the one held here in 1966.

Winners of the state meet will compete in nationwide jaycee competition next month.

Canada's 16-year-old Elaine Tanner snapped a string of five straight U.S. triumphs with a superb women's 200-meter backstroke effort of 2:24.44, smashing the world record of 2:26.4 set by South Africa's Karen Muir in 1966.

Miss Tanner also may dent U.S. aquatic superiority in tonight's five-event program which includes the women's 100-meter backstroke.

The Yank track team which begins flexing its muscles in Saturday's opening finals in the 10,000-meter run, javelin and shot put is tabbed to take at least 18 gold medals on the men's 24-event program.

The U.S. basketball team Wednesday continued to make a walkway of its quest for fifth straight Pan-Am title by whumping Peru 93-37 with five players hitting double figures.

The U.S. cagers now stand 2-0 after opening Tuesday with a 131-43 clouting of Colombia.

Pirates Nip LA, 4-2

By RON RAPOPORT

Bob Veale, weary from having struggled through a complete game just five days ago, discovered Wednesday night that he just couldn't turn the trick twice in succession.

With Juan Pizarro waiting in the wings, it couldn't have mattered less.

Veale, still relishing his first complete game in 16 starts on July 21, held Los Angeles at bay for 7 1-3 innings in the Pirates' 4-2 victory Wednesday. But then

CLOUD OF DUST—Boston second baseman Mike Andrews kicks up cloud of dust as he slides home safely Wednesday night against the California Angels. Trying for the out is Angels' Bob Rodgers. Bosox won to stop the California winning streak. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Bunt Helps Bosox Win

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mike Andrews had an idea and also a solution in case it didn't work. Happily it worked.

There were men on first and third with two out in the Boston sixth inning Wednesday night with Andrews at the plate. He bunted.

By the time surprised California third baseman Woody Held fielded the ball Andrews was on first and Reggie Smith was home with the third run of the inning to tie the game 4-4.

The Red Sox went on to score three more times in the inning for a 7-4 lead en route to a 9-6 victory.

"It was my own idea," Andrews said. "If I would have popped it up, I would have just kept running."

While Andrews was outsmarting the Angels, Washington was beating Kansas City 6-3 and New York split with Minnesota, winning the first game 6-1 and losing the nightcap 3-2 in 18 innings.

The Cleveland at Chicago game was rained out. Detroit and Baltimore were not scheduled.

Asked if he was thinking about bunting with Andrews up, Boston Manager Dick Williams replied:

"No. He caught me just like he caught Woody Held."

The Red Sox, who stayed ahead of the Angels in second place with the victory which snapped California's seven-game winning streak, got their first run in the seventh on Tony Conigliaro's double and George Scott's triple.

Rough Greeting

Marcelino Lopez then relieved George Brunet and was greeted by Rico Petrocelli's sacrifice fly. Smith singled and pinch hitter Norm Sieben got aboard on an error before pinch hitter Dalton Jones fled out setting up Andrews' bunt.

Boston, which scored one run in the fourth, added insurance tallies in the eighth on consecutive homers by Conigliaro and Scott.

Jose Cardenal and Woody Held each drove in two runs for California—Cardenal with a homer and single and Held with a homer.

Joe Pepitone drove in three runs with two homers and Steve Whitaker two with a homer and single in New York's first game victory. Minnesota got its run on Bob Allison's leadoff homer in the first inning.

The nightcap threatened to go forever until Rod Carew walked in the 18th inning, stole second, went to third on Yankee catcher Jake Gibbs' bad throw and scored on Rich Rollins' infield hit.

Bill Monbouquette pitched nine innings in relief for the Yanks, retiring the first 21 batters he faced before being lifted for a pinch hitter in the 16th.

Jim Merritt went the first 14 innings for the Twins.

Home runs by Frank Howard and Ken McMullen helped Joe Coleman, 8-6, win his fourth straight game for Washington. Howard's homer was his 26th.

Braves Host Millerton At Stadium

Unbeaten Millerton will invade Dietz Stadium tonight to oppose the Kingston Braves in an Interstate League contest. Game time is 8 o'clock.

The visitors are 5-0 and will probably send their ace, righty Joe McDermott, to the hill. Kingston, with a 3-2 league record, will counter with lefty Frank McGowan, whose last start in the City League resulted in a no-hitter.

A win by the Braves will throw the league pennant race into a wide open affair between Millerton, Kingston and Winstead.

Convicted Man Seeks Release In Bid Here

Frank Realmuto, who was convicted of armed robbery in a Brooklyn court and sentenced to Sing Sing Prison and later transferred to Walkill State Prison, seeks to be released from prison on the grounds his constitutional rights have been violated.

Under a writ of habeas corpus he appeared before County Judge Raymond J. Mino Wednesday afternoon to argue his case. Although Seymour Werbalowsky, Kingston attorney had been assigned to defend him, practically all of the argument of the case was by the relator himself.

Realmuto was convicted in Kings County in September 1962 of armed robbery. He alleged that he was beaten by police officials to force him to make a statement and also that the indictment by the grand jury was based on unlawful evidence. Realmuto also contends that there was illegal search and seizure in his home by police officials.

At the conclusion of the hearing Judge Mino reserved decision and remanded Realmuto to Walkill prison, after stating that time would be allowed for additional papers to be filed with the court. Judge Mino informed the relator that the case would probably not be decided until next October.

Realmuto said he had been serving illegal time since 1962 and he "guessed" he could wait until fall for a decision on his present application.

Release, An Error

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — John Monroe Osborn says he was very puzzled when authorities at the state prison in Jefferson City released him.

He didn't ask questions and returned to his parents home in Springfield.

His attorney, Charles A. Mink, said the 21-year-old Osborn was told Tuesday that his two-year sentences on burglary and stealing charges had been commuted by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

An investigation later revealed a snafu in the records at the penitentiary. Osborn should not have been released.

When he found out, Osborn decided to return voluntarily. He made plans today to take a bus back to Jefferson City.

Connery-Bond Split Final

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
LONDON (AP) — Q. Whither James Bond?
A. He is headed for more sex-charged film adventures—with Sean Connery.

The word comes from A. R. "Cubby" Broccoli, who with coproducer Harry Saltzman discovered the unparalleled gold in the supermimicked spy travesties, from "Dr. No" to "You Only Live Twice." The disaffection of star Connery from the series is well known and apparently final. The Broccoli-Saltzman decision is apparently final, too.

Looking for New One

"We are going ahead with the series without Sean," says Broccoli. "We don't want an actor to appear in films he is not enthusiastic about. Even if Sean changes his mind, that will not affect our decision. We are looking for a new James Bond." Sour grapes, anyone? Not for Broccoli, a big, friendly bear of a man who has nothing but pleasant thoughts about the entire 007 caper. The films have made him many times a millionaire, and he is likely to glean more millions from the Ian Fleming stories. He and Saltzman own seven more of the novels. "Our next one will be 'On Her Majesty's Secret Service'."

ice, and we will shoot it in Switzerland, England and France," said the producer. "We won't start filming until August of 1968, so that will give us plenty of time to find a new James Bond."

"I think the audience is ready for a new one. Sean Connery has been a great James Bond, but it is time to move on."

Lots of Applicants

"We're getting lots of applicants; in fact, I get phone calls every day. Just yesterday I heard from a man in Vancouver who looks pretty good. One thing is certain: Whoever he is, he'll have to be British. That is a necessity."

The public already has been confused by a proliferation of Bonds; Columbia's "Casino Royale" featured the spy in a variety of guises, none of them Connery. Yet the fifth of the official Bond entries, "You Only Live Twice," followed soon after and is doing the usual smash business.

"Casino Royale" worried me," Broccoli admitted. "I became concerned when a friend of mine, a New York advertising man who should be in the know, complained to me about the picture, thinking we had made it. I think the public must have been confused. But anyway, the new one seems to be doing equal business to our previous record holder, 'Thunderball,' which brought in $50 million worldwide."

IN ELKS SHOW—Delisa, who is shown floating a lady from the audience in mid air, always proves a favorite with young and old alike. Delisa will appear with two-hour stage show sponsored by Kingston Lodge, 550, BPO of Elks, at Kingston Plaza Monday, July 31. Other circus, stage and TV stars will comprise the International Cavalcade of Stars.

Claims Podell Exaggerates School Plight

Windham Republican Assemblyman Clarence D. Lane has called Assemblyman Bertram Podell's criticism of the Hudson State Training School for Girls "extremely exaggerated." Podell, chairman of the Joint Legislative committee which has been inspecting penal institutions, called some of the cottages at the school "death traps."

Podell's commission recently visited the Ulster County Jail and after an inspection trip called the Ulster County Jail a "house of despair."

While Assemblyman Lane agreed the Hudson institution needed "upgrading" he called the criticism of Podell "exaggerated" and said that it was his understanding that over $1,300,000 was placed in the Social Welfare budget and directed to the Hudson Training School for Girls as a part of the upgrading process.

The Greene County assemblyman said he was continuing his efforts to have the Valatie colony opened as an additional

Arrest Pa. Man As Fugitive in Shotgun Slaying

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Edward R. Chruscial, 36, of Turtle Creek, Pa., faced arraignment today after he was arrested Wednesday in nearby Kenmore on a first-degree murder warrant issued by Allegheny County, Pa. police.

Arrested as a fugitive from justice by Kenmore police, Chruscial is accused of the shotgun slaying Monday of Charlotte Z. Kuhn, 37, of Wilkins, near Pittsburgh. He waived extradition to Pennsylvania and was to appear before an Erie County Court Judge, police said.

Police were told by Allegheny County police officials that Chruscial might be staying with a former wife in Kenmore. They arrested him as he tried to flee from the rear door of a nearby apartment on Tremaine Ave., they said.

Found Hanged

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A man being held in the Public Safety Building Jail was found hanged from the door of his cell late Wednesday night.

Police identified the man as George Prashaw, 51, of Syracuse. He had been arrested a few hours earlier on a charge of public intoxication, police said. He was discovered by a jailer making a routine check. Officials said a handkerchief was looped around Prashaw's neck and tied to the cell door. An autopsy was scheduled to determine the cause of death. Prashaw's address was 114 Burnet Ave.

Prisoners Halt Sit-Out Protest

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — County Jail ended a three-day sit-out protest after Sheriff B. John Tutuska ordered them back to their cells Wednesday.

Twenty-two prisoners, who began the protest Sunday by refusing to be locked in their cells, had asked in an unsigned petition for an outdoor recreation area, evening visiting hours, local newspapers uncensored mail and longer television viewing hours. Four of the 22 halted their revolt Tuesday night.

They had jammed the automatic cell-locking system with books, and roamed about the exercise corridor just outside their cells, returning only to sleep at night. They "gave up their books" Wednesday after Tutuska ordered them to get back in their cells or else.

Authorities said the jail is a detention center and such added benefits would either be impractical or prevented under state law.

There was no violence or injuries reported.

Killed in Fall

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Edmund Wesselman, 58, was injured fatally Wednesday when, police said, he fell and his head struck a tool box at his home here.

The sun rotates on its axis about once a month, according to astronomers.

Dear Abby

Don't Baby Handicapped

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: We have a next door neighbor who is almost totally blind. He earns his living by etching out names and designs on wood and polished metal. He seems to be a very nice person.

Our problem is this: Whenever he uses his etching machine, the power is drained out of our television set. This can get maddening at times when one wants to see something special and suddenly finds it impossible. What do you suggest?

GOOD NEIGHBOR: DEAR NEIGHBOR: I suggest that you hot foot it right over to your neighbor and state your complaint. Don't assume that because he is "nearly totally blind" he expects charity, pity, or special consideration. A handicapped person can be every bit as self-respecting and thoughtful of his neighbor as one who isn't. Give him a chance to solve the problem with you.

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 and engaged to a great guy who is 28. We are to be married in January. My fiancé (I'll call Jack) lives a great distance from me, so we get together only on week-ends. About a year ago I saved up enough to buy a small cabin on the beach. This summer Jack and I planned to take our vacations at the same time and would like to spend them together up at my cabin.

There would be nothing stopping us except that we don't want to do anything wrong. Do you think it would be okay? It has two bedrooms. I could invite my best friend and her boyfriend to go with us if you think it wouldn't be right for Jack and me to go up there alone.

DEAR GIRL: I don't know what you consider "wrong," but if you are saving the most intimate relationship for marriage, forget the cabin vacation until you and Jack can go up there as Mr. and Mrs. The presence of the other couple wouldn't help much.

DEAR ABBY: When my grandchild had a birthday I sent him a gift. His mother called me a few days later and asked, "Why didn't you come over for Jose's birthday?"

I said, "I wasn't invited." The mother said, "You don't need an invitation to go to a son's or daughter's house for your grandchild's birthday. Where are your old-fashioned manners?"

I said, "I'm sorry I don't go any place without an invitation." To tell the truth, Abby,

I would have felt silly rushing into someone's house while a party was going on. Or maybe a party would be going on at a park and nobody would be home.

So what's a grandmother supposed to do, drop dead? She's damned if she does and damned if she doesn't. Who's right? Mother or grandmother?

NOBODY

DEAR NOBODY: Grandmother. Mother should have invited you. Where are HER "old-fashioned manners?"

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FRECKLEHEAD": You need more help than I can give you in one letter. Let me put it this way: A woman who is really in love doesn't cook up phony stories in order to make her man jealous. She is concerned only with making him happy.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, California. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S NEW BOOK-LET "WHAT TEEN-AGERS WANT TO KNOW" SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL. 90069. (© by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.)

The young manager told his supervisor that he would be unable to remain quiet during the upcoming meeting and listen to the director's silly clichés.

His wedding proposal, which he had been rehearsing for weeks, sounded like the typical cliché from a second rate movie.

Bridge Expert — Under an assumed name, ma'am.

Mrs. Jones — Hello! Is this the city bridge department?

Mr. Brown — Yes! What can we do for you?

Mrs. Jones — How many points do you get for a little slam?

Whether a man wins up with a nest egg or a goose egg depends on the chick he marries.

Lawyer — Did you have full and complete command of yourself at the time of the accident?

Client — No, I wouldn't say that. My wife was in the back seat.

Bill — There are two things Bridge has taught women, concentration and self-control.

Jim — Not to mention the art of opening cans and how to pick up a meal at the delicatessen.

A wise woman makes her husband feel like the president when he's only chairman of the entertainment committee!

A stranger approached a farmer, produced his card and remarked,

Mr. Black — I am a government inspector and I'm entitled to inspect your farm.

Moments later the farmer heard screams from behind the barn. The inspector was being chased by a bull. Leaning over the fence as the madly-running inspector drew near, the farmer cried out, its action-adventure shows have suffered the last couple of seasons, and writer's and actors' tongues are at long last being withdrawn from cheeks. NBC's "Man from U.N.C.L.E.," which arrived on the small screens at the peak of the James Bond furore and simulated that superhero's unshakable cool, will lead the way back to derring-do played for its suspense and excitement instead of chuckles.

Farmer White — Show him your card, mister, show him your card.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — We've played it pretty tongue in cheek long enough; possibly it was even a little "too cute" last year.

To me as an actor, the most significant change in "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." will be in the attitude of the two leading characters, Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin—Bob Vaughn and myself.

Now everyone on the show agrees it's time for a little less spoofing, a little more straight action-adventure. There will be more real danger and real intrigue.

Don't misunderstand. Solo and Kuryakin will still be a pretty cool team. But we'll be involved in a lot of more classical suspense than has been the case during the past year.

Producer Tony Spinner has worked up a few guidelines to achieve this classical suspense. For one thing, next year you'll find the villains are just as sharp as our heroes.

Motivation will be improved next season, too. The villains won't be sticking the blondes in urbia in next season's show; we torture chambers just for kicks, all see enough of this in our own If they do it at all, they'll have a homes. We'll have a lot more good reason for it. outdoor and location shooting And you won't find much sub-for increased production values.

Sent to Constitution Parley Study of City Debts

ALBANY — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt today sent to Constitutional delegations a 101-page study of municipal debt that showed annual borrowings by local governments have now passed the $1 billion level.

Based on that trend, Comptroller Levitt said, the next decade may see more than $12 billion in local bonds sold for schools, water, sewers, highways and other capital facilities.

7 Are Injured In Fire Truck, Tractor Mishap

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Seven persons, including four firemen and two pedestrians, were injured Wednesday in the collision of a tractor-trailer and a fire truck at an intersection in this city's downtown section.

Mrs. May Spooner, 47, the pedestrian, was injured when struck in the head by several boxes that flew from the truck on impact. The woman was reported in critical condition at the Albany Medical Center Hospital.

Peter Casazza, 22, of East Nassau, the driver of the truck, also was injured.

The injured firemen were William H. Grady, 25, the driver of the pumper, Thomas Mahar, 23, Lt. Joseph McNally, 34, and Hugh Clark, 33, of Altamont. Grady, Mahar and McNally are from Albany.

The seventh injured person was Betty A. Pike, 5, who also was struck by a box that fell from the truck. She was not injured seriously.

The truck's cargo included home furnishings and empty cardboard boxes.

The crash was the second in 24 hours in this city involving a fire truck. Tuesday, a pumper truck and an automobile collided at another downtown intersection.

Ambush: Deadly Tactic Gives Reds Advantage in Viet War

By JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON (AP) — Millions ago a cave man crouched behind a boulder, stone ax in hand, and waited for his unwary enemy to trudge up the trail.

The enemy arrived, the ax swished through the air, and the ambush was born.

Today in Vietnam the ambush has been raised to its highest level of cunning and effectiveness by the Communists, who otherwise might have been defeated long ago by U.S. fire power in conventional battle.

Big Jump on U.S.

It is the enemy's most successful tactic by far and has given the Communists their most clear-cut victories over American and other allied troops.

Typical of these operations was a recent attack on a company of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division in the central highlands.

"We were just sitting on the trail, taking a break, you know, and then old Charlie opens up with those damned AK47 assault rifles, and, whammo, we were really in the hurt locker (trouble)," a corporal recalled.

"In a way we were lucky. The Old Man (the company commander) wouldn't let us bunch up, even though we figured we were almost home free."

Lucky is a relative term in Vietnam. Half the men of the corporal's company were killed or wounded in three hours of savage fighting.

The infantry company probably had been trailed by the North Vietnamese for days. When the troops took a rest break before the final climb up a mountain, Charlie, as American troops have dubbed their foe, saw his chance, sent snipers up trees and positioned assault troops for attack. The sudden burst of fire caught the Americans sprawled on the ground. Many didn't move after the first volley. Courage and leadership got the Americans out of what could have been a disaster.

Ambushes can be in dozens of categories. Three classic involve the "U," the "Open U," and the "L."

In each case, an unwary adversary is allowed to walk into the kill zone where cross fire and terrain allow no place to hide, then is hit with everything available. Most of the damage is done in the first five minutes.

The Americans use the ambush, too. One night south of the Da Nang air base a Marine unit on ambush patrol began hearing Vietnamese voices and suddenly sighted between 100 and 200 Viet Cong bent on attacking the base. The Marines ignored the axiom that discretion is sometimes the better part of valor and opened fire. The patrol was badly cut up, but the shots alerted the big base to the impending attack.

The Americans also have developed and refined a tactic called the artillery ambush. Long-range reconnaissance patrols filter through the jungle and mountains seeking out infiltrating units.

When they spot one, they radio for artillery, and from vantage points adjust the fire as the enemy tries to escape. The tactic sometimes works with devastating effect.

But the big ambushes always have been pulled by Charlies. The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese still as a rule are able to pick the time and place for the big battles.

American troops generally try to pull back when hit by the hidden enemy and let the artillery and jet bombers work over the positions. Sometimes the ambush is too swift.
